

OFFICIAL DECISION

Authorizing Deposition of the Sultan Made Public

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28.—The fetwa, or official decision of the sheik-ul-Islam, authorizing the deposition of Abdul Hamid, has been made public. It embraces the questions put by parliament to the sheik-ul-Islam and his answer thereto. The text follows:

"What becomes of an imam (the title of the sultan of Turkey as head of the Orthodox faith) who has destroyed certain holy writings, who has seized property in contravention to the shari'ah, who has committed cruelties in ordering the assassination and imprisonment of exiles without any justification under the shari'ah laws, who has squandered the public money, who, having sworn to govern according to the shari'ah, has violated his oath, who, by gifts of money, has provoked inter-commence bloodshed and civil war and who no longer is recognized in the provinces?"

"He must abdicate or be deposed."

Not one of the Constantinople newspapers has a good word for Abdul Hamid, whose life and reign are being held up to universal execration. On the other hand, the accession of Mehmed V is regarded as the dawn of a new era.

In order to enable the public to indulge in rejoicings there has been ordered a temporary suspension of the state of siege until 10 o'clock tonight. The city will be illuminated but fire-works have been prohibited.

The cabinet has been requested to remain in office for some days longer.

FOR NEW FACTORY

J. J. Doherty Purchases Property in Hale Street

Mr. John J. Doherty, the well known harness manufacturer, is soon to abandon his Congress street plant and start a new factory at the corner of Hale and Thorndike streets.

For this purpose he has purchased the Joseph Green estate of about 15,000 square feet of land on which there is a three-story building. This building has about 50,000 feet of floor space and was formerly used as a rug factory.

The deeds were passed today.

through the real estate agency of Thomas H. Elliott.

Mr. Doherty will put in new machinery for the manufacture of silk floss and felt mattress. He will build to the front of the building bringing it out to the street line and will have a warehouse in front on the ground floor.

Mr. Doherty intends to extend his business throughout New England and will have agents on the road to present the merits of his stock to the trade.

SPICY TESTIMONY

At Today's Session of Police Board Hearing

When the mayor's police board hearing was resumed this forenoon, Deputy Superintendent Welch, who had been called, but not questioned, when the hearing adjourned last evening was recalled.

Mr. Welch testified that on Sunday, January 17, 1909, the mayor telephoned to him and told him that he would come down to the police station and take charge of the police department.

Witness said the mayor told him to notify the superintendent that he would be down to take charge of the police department within an hour.

Witness said the mayor did not make good. He did not "come down" and take charge of the department."

Telling of an interview that took place between himself and the mayor, the mayor having summoned him to the city hall, Mr. Welch said, the mayor said:

"You received a complaint about a team taken from Middlesex street last Wednesday evening."

"I said I had not heard anything about a stolen team."

"Do you mean to tell me that I am tramping up a charge?"

"No sir," I answered.

"You want to remember that I am mayor of this city now and you are my subordinate," he said and he added:

"Don't you get impatient?"

"I do not want to be considered impatient," I replied.

"Don't get saucy with me," said the mayor.

No reply.

"Remember I am mayor of the city and you are my subordinate," reiterated the mayor.

The deputy also testified that the mayor said to him over the telephone that he (the mayor) would not stand for Moffatt's officers going around brow-beating people and making fools of themselves."

Mayor Objects

his office being made a subject of inquiry. Mr. Bent said he had not taken any step to embarrass the mayor in any way except so far as the exigencies of the hearing required. He said he had been very cautious about that, because that in his practice of the law he did not wish to embarrass anybody unnecessarily.

Supt. Moffatt Called

Supt. Wm. B. Moffatt was called and corroborated in substance what Deputy Welch said. Mr. Moffatt said that he received the mayor's message in which the mayor stated that he would go down to and take charge of the police department.

Mr. Moffatt was sick at his home at the time, but he got up and dressed and went down to the police station. He patiently awaited the arrival of the mayor, but the mayor didn't arrive.

Mr. Moffatt testified as to the conversation he had with Mr. Haynes, the Gorham St. florist, who testified yesterday. He said that when he learned from Mr. Haynes that he had a newsstand he told him he was at liberty to keep open on Sunday.

Moffatt's Denial

Asked by counsel for the prosecution if he had called patrolmen into his office and asked them how they were going to testify at the hearing now in session, Mr. Moffatt said, "No," very emphatically.

Mayor Called on Spotters

John P. Farrell, a clerk at the Belvidere hotel, said that the so-called spotters, Knight, Nason and Juddins, stopped at the Belvidere hotel.

He said that Mayor Brown called at the hotel and talked with them. The mayor entered the hotel, kicked the foot of Nason and motioned him to an inside room.

Asked as to how he happened to be a witness, Mr. Farrell said he was asked by John Pinder to testify as to his knowledge of the spotters, so-called; their connection with the mayor. He said Mr. Pinder spoke to him yesterday.

Witness denied the soft impeachment that the range at the Belvidere hotel was covered with rust. He said he was in the habit of cooking his breakfast there.

The Mayor's Speeches

Anthony J. Cunningham was the next witness. He testified as to speeches he had heard made by Mr. Brown when running for mayor.

He said the mayor said at a speech at Tower's corner: "If I am elected mayor you won't have to be an agent for the Harvard brewery and you won't have to deposit your money in one bank."

Asked by counsel for prosecution when he lived with witness said:

"With my wife."

Asked who he had talked to relative to appearing at the hearing as a witness, Mr. Cunningham said he had talked with Mr. Donohue. The latter was in the audience and advised the witness to go slow. "Don't let the cat out of the bag," he said—whatever that meant.

Mr. Cunningham gave a very excellent report of what Mr. Brown said on the night in question; so good that counsel for prosecution asked him if he was a newspaper reporter.

Yesterday's Closing

John C. King of the Park hotel, in addition to what was published yesterday, said that the mayor's purpose in calling the hotel men was to find out from each man as to whether there was any difference in the conduct of their business since his election as mayor.

Mr. King said that at the conference he called attention to the decision in the Regan case, and that the mayor agreed the decision was favorable to the hotel men; that the supreme court of Massachusetts had said that the law should be construed in a reasonable manner.

Mr. King said the mayor said that if the hotel proprietors would sign a paper to the effect that they were being abused, that he would order an investigation.

The mayor asked Mr. King if the commissioners ever visited his place on Sunday. The witness replied that they did.

The mayor then asked the witness if what the mayor really said at that conference was not, that if a man were a legitimate guest and ordered food, he was entitled to be served with one or more drinks so long as he was not intoxicated.

Mr. King thought that was true, up to the point where he asked the mayor's secretary to get the decision in the Regan case. Then they all read it carefully, and the mayor agreed with him—after a dictionary had been procured—that the definition of the word "regan" justified the hotel men in having 20 or 30 people on their places on Sundays and holidays.

The mayor asked the witness if there was not a rumor on the street of a complaint that the hotel men were being persecuted, "on account of Brown's election," and if that was not the substance of what was meant, when the mayor spoke of a complaint.

Mr. Burke objected, on the ground that rumors were not admissible.

The mayor said he would eliminate that, and asked whether or not those rumors stated at the hearing, that these men were persecuted because of Brown's election, and that then the mayor said, "If that is so, you will get up a petition."

Mr. King did not think that the mayor's name was connected with any such statement, but someone was said about the conduct of the police toward them being persecution instead of protection.

CAWLEY PLANT ARMED ANARCHIST

Inspected by Fiat Automobile Company

Labor Conditions in Lowell Are Pleasing to Auto Manufacturers—Company Wants 150,000 Feet of Floor Space

Albert E. Schaaf, a representative of the Fiat Automobile company, came to Lowell today on invitation of Mr. John O. Heinze and made an inspection of the unoccupied part of the Cawley plant at Atherton or Warrenville.

The Fiat company is an Italian concern and is about to start a factory in this country. It desires 150,000 feet of floor space, but does not want any capital or bonuses.

The unoccupied part of the Cawley plant consists of three floors in the main wing, 204 by 44 feet; one floor, 328 by 50; a foundry, 120 by 60, and the office buildings.

Mr. Schaaf stated that the plant was rather old, but at the same time he was most favorably impressed with the labor conditions in this city. He said that the labor conditions would appeal strongly to the company. Before leaving town he called on Secretary McKenna of the board of trade, and the latter promised to send the New York office of the company a plan of the buildings.

JOSHUA DANIELS
Sage of Tewksbury Passed Away

Joshua Wentworth Daniels, the eccentric sage of Tewksbury, died yesterday at the Danvers asylum, where he was committed about a year ago, after a brief attack of pneumonia.

The deceased for many years was a familiar figure in Lowell and Tewksbury and his mental decline a year ago or more caused much regret among the many who knew and admired the redoubtable old gentleman.

Mr. Daniels was 87 years, 4 months and 14 days old, and before beginning life as a farmer had been a successful manufacturer. For many years he was an active member of the Middlesex North Agricultural society, and a Tewksbury town meeting would not be complete in the old days without him, for he never missed a discussion on any subject of importance in town affairs and was decidedly frank in all his remarks. He is survived by a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Elmore E. Pierce, and a granddaughter, Miss Margaret L. Pierce. The remains were brought to this city by Undertaker John A. Wynn.

COMMON COUNCIL

Passed the $64,600 Loan Order Over the Mayor's Veto

The common council last night conferred with the board of aldermen in voting the $64,600 loan order over the mayor's veto. The council voted in concurrence with the board of aldermen.

The report of the park commission that the cost of land for park purposes was rather prohibitive, was also read and a special committee was appointed to inquire into the feasibility of securing a loan of $50,000 for park purposes.

It will be remembered that the common council, at its last session, on account of the report of the park commission, attached the report of the park commission to the report of the board of aldermen, and the board of aldermen, at its last session, attached the report of the park commission to the report of the common council.

There were twenty-five members present when the meeting was called to order at 8:30.

A joint order to borrow $64,600 for park purposes was passed.

The construction of sewers was also discussed.

The mayor's veto of the order to borrow $64,600 for park purposes was overruled.

The common council then adjourned.

itary on the North common was voted unanimously.

Councilman Gookin's order for an appropriation of $700 for band concerts was adopted.

The park commission submitted a report with reference to the park project adjacent to Little Canada. This report was to the effect that the park and grounds would cost $65,127 for the land and most desired, and on top of this would come the expenditure of $22,000 to convert the land into a playground. The report also indicated that the land might be leased for park purposes at a rental of only $5 a year, and the suggestion was made that the cheaper method of acquiring the land be adopted.

Councilman Welch moved that the report of the park commission be referred to a committee comprising two members of the board of aldermen and the mayor, and that this committee confer with the park commission in the matter. This motion became a vote.

Councilman Welch introduced a communication concerning the horses' pay.

Councilman Welch moved that action be taken immediately.

Councilman Welch moved that the bills be laid on the table, but President Gookin said that under section 10, chapter 115, acts of 1906, it was up to the common council to act on the bills, one way or the other.

This section says that all bills reported back by the committee on accounts shall not be paid unless by vote of the city council.

Councilman Welch desired action one way or the other, as he was anxious to be guided by the sentiment of the city council in the matter of approving or amending future pay bills giving horses as many when they don't work.

Councilman Welch's motion was not carried.

The common council then adjourned.

ONLY $383 IS NEEDED

To Complete $10,000 Fund for the Auto Carnival

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the finance committee of the Lowell Automobile club was held last night at the board of trade rooms in the Central block, and Secretary John A. McKenna announced that all but $383 of the $10,000 for a guarantee fund had been collected. Last night was to have been the time when the committee was to decide whether or not the race would be held here during Labor day week, but owing to the fact that there remains but a comparatively small sum to be collected it was decided to keep the list open till Friday night, when the regular meeting of the committee will be held. By that time it is expected that the remainder of the money will have been contributed.

That the members of the committee hustled during the few days that intervened between the regular and special meeting is very evident from the amount of money collected.

Chairman Harry R. Rice occupied the chair. The meeting was of short duration, the secretary simply reporting what they had secured after which Secretary McKenna gave out the total sum contributed and the amount necessary to make the guarantee fund of $10,000.

President J. O. Heinze, prior to his leaving for New York on Monday to confer with the officers of the A. A. A. club, word to immediately notify him of the amount contributed and at the conclusion of the meeting Fred W. Cobern, one of the members of the finance committee, wired the fact that all but $383 had been collected.

Since last Saturday the committee has not together $1967. The list of subscribers last night showed that $1113 had been subscribed since Monday afternoon. It was stated that, aside from the amount collected here for the San Francisco sufferers, a sum as much as $10,000 has never before been subscribed here. It came hard, a lot of it, and the members of the finance committee are entitled to a lot of credit for the many hours of real hard work put in.

On Friday night at 7:45 o'clock the finance committee will hold a meeting. Last night they decided to hold one meeting more before a report was made to the club as a whole. In the meantime they hope to get the $383 needed. Every cent of the $10,000 needed is wanted by Friday. After the meeting of the finance committee the Lowell Automobile club will hold a session. This meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock. The contributions read last night were as follows:

BADLY BITTEN

Little Boy Attacked by a Dog

Ernest Blanchette, aged six, of 149 Moody street was badly bitten by a dog owned by Millage Wilson of 109 Cheever street.

The dog was gnawing at a bone near its master's home when the little fellow started to tease it and pull the bone away from it. The dog, becoming furious, seized the boy's face, driving its teeth twice into the right cheek, and inflicting two ugly looking wounds.

The boy was faint with pain and fright when the animal was scared away from him. His face swelled greatly and the wounds bled profusely. He was removed to Toupin's pharmacy nearby and later Officer William O'Rourke took him to the Lowell hospital. The dog was not known to have rabies and hence no fear of hydrophobia is entertained.

GROCCERS' BANQUET DAMAGE IS $125,000

Successful Event Marked Close Disastrous Fire Broke Out in of Convention Peabody This Morning

DAVID GEROW
President of the State Association

EDWARD S. FITZPATRICK
President of the Local Association

Rev. Fr. Ronan, Mayor Brown, Ex-Mayor Carter of Chelsea, and Prof. Molloy the Speakers

The twenty-eighth annual banquet of the Lowell Grocers and Butchers association was held last night in Odd Fellows temple, it being a fitting close to the fifth annual convention of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers and Provision Dealers association held during the afternoon.

BETTER NOT TAKE WHISKEY

The next time you have a sudden chill—you or any of the folks at home—don't bother with whiskey or waste time. Take quickly a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' Painkiller in half a glass of hot water or milk. Its good record of 70 years proves reliability. At your druggist's. The new size is 3c, or 5c a (larger) bottle. You begin to have it on hand.

PEABODY, April 28.—The manufacturing and tenement district of this town was seriously threatened by fire early today which completely burned one of the large buildings connected with the leather manufacturing plant of the E. Clark Mfg. Co. partly destroyed another, and rendered much damage to surrounding property, entailing an estimated loss of about $125,000. But for the rain which fell in torrents during the morning, and the concerted work of the fire departments of the National Calfskin Co. located across the street and those of Peabody, Salem and Beverly, the whole district in the vicinity of Union street, where the Clark plant is located, would have been devastated.

The fire was discovered in the morocco factory of the Clark plant by Watchman James Tivnan of the National Calfskin Co. shortly after 3 o'clock. The flames by this time were bursting through many parts of the building which was an old frame structure eight stories high and about 300 feet long, and when the local apparatus arrived the fire had spread to several of the twenty buildings which comprise the Clark plant and to the factories of the National Calfskin Co. A general alarm was immediately sounded and help summoned from Salem and Beverly, aided by the private apparatus of the National company, which did effective work with six powerful streams, the firemen devoted their efforts to subduing the incipient fires which started among the surrounding factories and tenement houses. Notwithstanding their efforts, however, the glove factory of the Clark company situated across the street was badly burned, about half the building being destroyed. The structure was of wood, seven stories high and about 250 feet long. The National Calfskin Co.'s buildings were also considerably damaged as well as several other buildings of the Clark plant and a few tenements. Both of the burned buildings were equipped with automatic sprinklers and fire alarms, but neither appeared to work. About 100 persons were employed at the morocco shop and 75 at the glove factory.

from the good name of Lowell. In conclusion he wished the association every success.

The officers of the Lowell association together with the banquet committee are as follows:

President, Edward S. Fitzpatrick; clerk, John McLough; treasurer, Edward N. Bowers; directors—John J. Sullivan, Charles H. O'Donnell; trustees, James McGarvey, David Gerow.

Banquet committee: Edward S. Fitzpatrick, chairman; E. N. Bowers, George F. McGuire, Alanson Gray, David Gerow.

Officers Re-Elected

The fifth annual convention of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers and Provision Dealers association came to a close late yesterday afternoon in Odd Fellows temple with the election of officers for the ensuing year. The officers who served last year were unanimously re-elected, a list of which appeared in yesterday's issue of The Sun.

Rev. Fr. Ronan

Father Ronan referred to the familiar sight of the grocery and butcher wagon which stopped not only at the mansion, but also at the cottage of the poor family and said that the grocers and butchers were the deliverers of the staff of life and in many ways the friends of the poor.

In speaking of the progress of the country and the industries of the country, he said that the grocer and butcher had materially assisted. In conclusion he wished the association every success.

Mayor Brown

Hon. George H. Brown was the next speaker called upon. He opened by stating that while he was down for an address the mayor of Lowell is not able to make an address. During the course of his remarks he said: "Fellow citizens, last fall you elected me as your mayor on my issues. I still remember those issues and your mayor is trying to carry out every pledge that he made, but I have not made much headway."

"One of the principal questions was whether the brewery and wholesalers would control the liquor interest in Lowell. I wish to say tonight that I have made but little headway in breaking up the control of the Harvard brewery and the wholesalers. But you must remember to take into consideration the fact that I have been your mayor but four months. I may lose a skirmish engagement or even a battle, but I am out to win the war. I am not going to try to review my acts of the year but I will say that when it comes to the fall of the year if I have my health and strength left I will go out upon the street corners and mill gates and ask you to review my official acts and judge me accordingly."

President Gerow

David Gerow, president of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers and Provision Dealers association, thanked the members of the association who were present, both for their attendance and for the confidence that they had in him when they re-elected him president of the convention held during the afternoon. He said that the meaning and necessity of organization. He urged the grocers and butchers present to join the association and assist in carrying out the good work.

Hon. George H. Carter

Hon. George H. Carter, treasurer of the D. & L. State Co. and ex-mayor of Chelsea, started off in a humorous manner, and after paying a pretty compliment to the ladies, congratulated the association on the large attendance both at the convention and banquet, and also at the present made by the association. He laid considerable stress on the folly of undue price cutting.

Prof. Hugh J. Molloy

Lowell, Our Home," was the first responded to by Prof. Hugh J. Molloy of the State Normal school.

He spoke of Lowell, the city beautiful, its industries and progress. He said:

"When I was a child I knew Lowell as a dot on the map, at the junction of the Concord and Merrimack rivers. I have heard it spoken of as the Springfield of New England. I think it should speak well of Lowell. While it is 10,000 in population it is more of a large town than a city. It has many of the characteristics of a large town, a large family. Lowell is a city of which its people may well feel proud."

Speaking from an educational standpoint, the state has created a magnificent normal school in this city, and a textile school. Lowell also has an excellent educational system.

"What is a city? It is not great buildings, factories, and railroads, it is the men and women and their families who make the city. Take for instance the city of Chelsea that was destroyed by fire. The buildings were destroyed but the men and women are left. The standing of any community depends upon its citizens and it is an honor to be able to say that you are a citizen of Lowell. Let us always speak well of our city and its citizens. Never say anything that will detract

FOUND TWO FIRES CAMPAIGN FOR BOYS

In Different Parts of the Same Movement for Development of Building Street Arabs

The discovery of two fires in different parts of the three-story tenement block at the corner of Cambridge and Cheever streets yesterday, heads Chief Hosmer of the local fire department to think that the fires may have been of incendiary origin. But for the early discovery of the fires, which destroyed the block might have been destroyed and fatalities might have resulted.

When the department arrived on the scene there were two fires. One in progress, one in a closet on the second floor of the building and the other in the hallway on the third floor.

Chemical lines were laid and within a few minutes the fires were extinguished but not before the interior of the buildings in the vicinity were badly scorched.

The finding of the fires in different parts of the building caused Chief Hosmer to suspect that they might have been of incendiary origin and he immediately questioned inmates of the building and those who were early on the scene.

It is the intention of the chief to have the marshal come to this city in order to investigate the origin of the fires.

The building is owned by G. Boynton.

GREAT SENSATION

Caused by Van Vlissingen's Story Told in Court Today

CHICAGO, April 28.—Peter Van Vlissingen, whose confession a year ago so that he had forged money, caused a sensation in Chicago, where he had been known for twenty years as a leading real estate man, exploded a bomb shell in the bankruptcy court here yesterday when he stated that his confession a few months ago was antedated by four years by a confession made privately to men who had $400,000 of his spurious paper.

Van Vlissingen was brought back to Chicago from prison today to testify before Referee in Bankruptcy Frank Wenn, who is attempting to locate the valid assets of the prisoners. Van Vlissingen declared that in 1904 he was compelled to confess to Maurice Rosenthal, at that time a director in the now defunct Chicago National bank and Bernard Rosenberg, a real estate dealer, that mortgages held by them

GUTTED BY FIRE

Station Agent Had a Narrow Escape

WOONSOCKET, R. I., April 28.—Station Agent Donovan had barely time to get out of the Providence & Worcester railroad station at the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad station yesterday when a fire gutted the inside and basement of the structure. Before he would leave the building Donovan secured most of the tickets together with the cash drawer.

The fire started in some unknown manner. An adjoining brick building was partly damaged by smoke and water but the quick work of the firemen prevented the blaze from spreading farther.

Two Interesting Meetings Held in This City Yesterday and Addressed by Noted Workers in This Great Field

Two most interesting meetings in connection with the educational campaign for boys now being conducted in Boston and vicinity by philanthropic workers of national reputation were held in this city yesterday, the first at the Normal school, and the second at High school hall. The speakers were Mr. John E. Gunkel, of Toledo, O., president of the Newsboys' association, and a worker among boys of national reputation; Miss Jane Day, a discipline nurse in cases of extreme physical, mental and moral wreckage of children and homes; Leonard P. Ayres, who is in charge of the Backward Children's foundation; Lee E. Hamner, held secretary of the Playground Association of America and Inspector of Public School athletics; and Mr. Burt Hall, trustee commissioner of Milwaukee, Wis.

Miss Jane Day
The Normal school meeting was attended by all the pupils and teachers and was held at two o'clock. Principal Durgin presiding. All the speakers illustrated their remarks with stories and incidents that were most interesting and humorous. The first speaker introduced was Miss Jane Day, who spoke on her particular line as a home visitor. She explained that the home visitor is the disinterested party. She points out the way to the parent, the teacher and the child. In the home, the practical work in the home, the sentimental work, she said, did more harm than the person who did not work at all. She related at length her experiences with a little Russian Jew boy who was developed into a useful citizen, who understood in Russia when he first came to this country, with which he developed himself and became of benefit to those at home. She traced the steps in the transformation of this urchin in a most fascinating manner concluding by telling of a letter which he wrote his mother some time afterward of which three pages were in English to show that he had learned the language of the new country, three pages in Russian to show that he had not forgotten the tongue of his fatherland and three in Yiddish, the language which she understood. The earning capacity of the child, she said, is the standard by which the child is measured in most poor families. The work of the home visitor is to make this subordinate to the moral welfare and the laws of the country. The boy must be developed and still not alienated from his family. She described some of the homes where a child never sees a toy to play with and never has an opportunity to study. The influence of the teacher, she said, on the home, is great and the home visitor impresses upon the teacher the conditions that exist in the home, thus pointing out the manner in which she must treat the child. The children of the tenements respond very quickly to kindness and sympathy and they should be extended kindness and sympathy. The speaker gave many strikingly homely incidents of home happenings, showing where the child is handicapped by his parents and his surroundings and pointing the way to remedy this drawback to his future.

Mr. Burt Hall
At the conclusion of Miss Day's remarks Principal Durgin stated that the next speaker was not down on the program but as soon as he learned that he was in Boston he insisted on him coming to Lowell. He then introduced Mr. Burt Hall, trustee commissioner of Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Burt Hall spoke in part as follows:
You are not all going to have the experiences that Miss Day has had in New York but there is in the colling of a teacher that is sacred next to that of motherhood. It is so easy for the teacher to get the wrong impression of the pupil.
I remember a young boy in Milwaukee who was constantly in trouble because he insisted on drawing caricatures of the teacher and yet today he is one of the greatest artists in Milwaukee. He is a Russian Jew and I find that the boys of that race respond quickly to kindness and sympathy. A teacher should study her pupil a little. Stay by the job until it finishes.
Leonard P. Ayres in charge of the investigation of backward children of the Russell Sage foundation, was next introduced, and he spoke on educational economics, taking up the subject of backward children. In the lower grades there are always more than in the upper. Then he showed by means of a chart the real conditions relative to membership in children of different grades and conditions as they exist in Boston, Sonerville, Camden, N. J., showing that there are more children there than should be and not as many as there should be in the higher grades. In this respect, there are the worst conditions in this respect. There are too many "repeaters," as they are called, children who fail to get promoted. In the average American city, only one in ten goes through the high school.
Mr. Ayres then presented a chart showing the backward children in this city. There are 22 per cent. retarded children in the first grade, 18 per cent. in the second, 15 per cent. in the third, 13 per cent. in the fourth, 11 per cent. in the fifth, 9 per cent. in the sixth, 7 per cent. in the seventh, 5 per cent. in the eighth, 3 per cent. in the ninth, 1 per cent. in the tenth, and 1 per cent. in the eleventh. The backward children in the first grade are 22 per cent. in the second, 18 per cent. in the third, 15 per cent. in the fourth, 11 per cent. in the fifth, 9 per cent. in the sixth, 7 per cent. in the seventh, 5 per cent. in the eighth, 3 per cent. in the ninth, 1 per cent. in the tenth, and 1 per cent. in the eleventh. The backward children in the first grade are 22 per cent. in the second, 18 per cent. in the third, 15 per cent. in the fourth, 11 per cent. in the fifth, 9 per cent. in the sixth, 7 per cent. in the seventh, 5 per cent. in the eighth, 3 per cent. in the ninth, 1 per cent. in the tenth, and 1 per cent. in the eleventh.

At the conclusion of Miss Day's remarks Principal Durgin stated that the next speaker was not down on the program but as soon as he learned that he was in Boston he insisted on him coming to Lowell. He then introduced Mr. Burt Hall, trustee commissioner of Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Burt Hall spoke in part as follows:

NEW ENGLAND DAY

At the Alaska-Yukon Exposition

SEATTLE, April 28.—New England day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition has been changed from Sept. 1 to Aug. 3 at the request of the New England club of this city.

Invitations are to be extended to the governor of every state of New England as well as the representatives in Congress to be present at New England day. Harvard, Brown, Dartmouth, Yale, and other leading educational institutions of the East will send delegations of students to Seattle to represent the colleges in the various athletic contests.

The New England club of Seattle is now one of the strongest of the many state organizations and has a growing membership. It is hoped that every New Englander who is in Seattle will be a member of the club and will be a part of the success of New England day at the exposition.

The exposition department of special groups will cooperate with the officers of the New England society in making a day out of the most successful of the fair period. The society will maintain headquarters in the exposition grounds where visitors from New England will be given information regarding the exposition and the Puget Sound country in general.

Low railroad rates to the Pacific coast this year will no doubt result in many many visitors from Seattle, from Portland, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. The members of the New England club are keeping their friends, relatives and acquaintances in the old home states advised of the progress made in building the exposition as well as the many places of interest to see in and adjacent to Seattle. At the last meeting of the New England club the members were notified the exposition was more than 75 per cent. complete and that the grounds and every building would be ready not later than May 15.

During the evening Pres. Bourke called attention to the fact that on Sunday, May 31, the five divisions of the A. O. H. will receive communion at the 720 mass at the Immaculate Conception church. The members will wear regalia and will meet at A. H. hall and march in a body to the cathedral. It is hoped that every Irishman in Lowell will attend the service. Pres. Bourke also stated that Division 8 will take up the work in earnest for the erection of the A. O. H. building. It is the intention to canvass the members of the division and urge them to take shares at 25 cents each.

HEAD LACERATED
Thomas Golden of Fulton street, Centralville, while driving through Broadway yesterday was thrown from his wagon near the corner of School street and sustained a laceration of the head. The ambulance was summoned and he was removed to St. John's hospital.

ing would be ready not later than May 15.

Within the last 30 days great progress has been made in all lines at the fair. The United States government group of buildings, stand complete and exhibits are rapidly being assembled. The interior of the central government structure is now being decorated with hunting and flags and exhibits from the fisheries and treasury departments have been installed.

Every building planned for the fair at the outset is now being completed by so, and the streets have been paved with asphalt. On every hand flowers, trees and shrubs are being set out by the landscape artists, and rhododendrons, the Washington state flower, have been banked against the big exhibits palace.

Thousands of flowers are blooming in the formal gardens that slope gently towards Lakes Washington and Union, and find their ending in the great fir forest that fringes these inland bays of water. The entrance plaza has been beautified and long rows of bay trees outline the green court.

The authorities have already been used by the musical organizations of the University of Washington and the Fine Arts building is filled to its very doors with priceless paintings. The Manufacture and Agriculture buildings are rapidly filling with displays of every nature and the Mines building is ready.

The Washington, Oregon, California and Forestry buildings are receiving visitors, and exhibits sufficient to fill both the Oriental and European buildings have just reached Seattle. Canada has its exhibits and the Japanese government has provided a creditable display. The Chinese, Eskimo and Inuit villages and their amusement as well as educational features.

New York state has just completed a magnificent building and the Utah and Idaho buildings will be ready within three weeks. There will be no unfinished work when the fair opens, nor will there be any part of the 250 acres of ground utilized as a site for the fair that has not been visited by the gardener and landscape artist.

The exposition will be ready to the smallest detail June 1 and residents of New England states visiting Seattle this summer will find a beautiful and attractively built exposition city in the heart of a natural forest with an abundance of mountains, lake and woodland scenery on all sides.

In the Hawaiian exhibit at the exposition will be seen the most remarkable lot of colored sea fishes in existence. The territorial aquarium of Hawaii, in the city of Honolulu, has long been noted for the variety and numbers represented in the collection, but it is principally in respect to the variegated colors and gorgeous tint that the fishes of the "Paradise of the Pacific" are chiefly famous. In regarding upon this peculiarity, Professor David Starr Jordan, one of the world's highest authorities on the subject, said: "No aquarium can boast of a collection of fishes more unique in form and coloring, although some have a greater number."

The Honolulu aquarium will be transported to the Seattle exposition, and the display has been greatly increased in extent and value. The work of the United States fish commission in the Hawaiian waters has resulted in a number of rare and wonderful discoveries in sea life, and the exhibit as now completed and ready for transportation from Honolulu is the finest and most comprehensive collection of marine life ever assembled.

"I believe it is possible to make the two sections even closer together. The south is the more homogeneous people than we. Immigration into this country spread over the north and went into the south, and the south preserved its traditions longer than did we in the north. Added to that trait and quality of theirs was the fact that for a long time the traces of war and the sufferings from war were present to them, and always they have present the colored race to bring back recollections of the strife."

"I feel certain that the real spirit of Appomattox is marching on and that it is infusing itself in the people of the south as it was long ago infused in the people of the north and that we are growing closer and closer together, and that it will manifest itself in political independence of the country over, so that we shall not know each other by sections in political matters, but by decision in principles."

President Taft left for Washington shortly after midnight. There were few persons at or about the depot when the train pulled out.

WITH THE M. T. I.

Two Events Are Being Planned

A highly interesting meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute was held last evening and several matters of importance were discussed. Pres. James J. Gallagher presided and four propositions were read and referred and five new members were admitted. The quarterly reports of Treas. George R. O'Neil and Financial Secretary James F. Bourke were read and referred to the board of trustees. The report of the delegates to the C. T. A. C. convention was the subject for a rather interesting discussion with Secretary Carey, John J. Nestor, P. Nestor, Eugene McGrover, ex-Pres. M. F. Lavin and others participating. The action on the report was deferred until one week when it is expected the final disposition of the matter will take place. The report of the building committee was encouraging, and showed that committee to be able and active in managing the building. A ways and means committee to assist in various ways in replenishing the treasury was appointed as follows:

Wm. Carey, James F. Bourke, George R. O'Neil, John J. Nestor, Bernard Feague, Michael F. Lavin, John V. Deaghe, Thomas H. Gallagher, Peter F. Brady and John J. Tobin. This committee will meet this evening for its initial session and many good plans are being suggested for action by the committee.

The annual minstrel overture and dance, an annual event, useful as well as successful in the past, will be held this year on May 25th, and promises to be the "best ever" in amateur minstrelsy locally. A competent committee has the preliminary arrangements in hand and it is generally predicted that they will present a creditable show.

Those delightful adjuncts of any society, that of good social gatherings where members and their friends can congregate and thereby assist the society, have found favor with the members. According to plans are now being formulated for a series of banquets conducted by the society in the past few months. The program for the event has not been definitely formulated, neither has a date been set, but there is no doubt that the occasion will be in line with previous successes of this nature, and hence of great benefit to the institute.

The Easter Monday ball of the institute was a pronounced success from a pecuniary standpoint and Treasurer Bourke says he will present his report in two weeks.

MILITIZED GRANT

BOSTON, April 28.—Congressman Francis W. Cushman of Washington entertained President U. S. Grant and discussed topics of mutual interest last night at the grand dinner of the Middlesex club of Massachusetts at the Hotel Somerset.

Speaker Cannon and others were expected to be present but were unable to attend. Col. Henry O. Fisher of Brookline gave an address of Grant as did Rev. Mr. Cutler of Providence, R. I., and former Congressman Samuel A. Powers, who presided.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Principal Speaker at the Grant Dinner

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—President Taft was last night the principal speaker at the Grant birthday dinner of the Union League in this city and paid a striking tribute to the soldier-president. Mr. Taft was sharply criticized a year ago because of certain of his references to Gen. Grant, and he took advantage of last night's opportunity to express anew his admiration for Gen. Grant as a man, as a soldier and as chief executive of the United States.

The president, accompanied by Captain Archibald Butt, his military aide, was met at the Broad street depot by an immense throng and a spontaneous cheer broke from the crowd as he was recognized. Entering an automobile the president was escorted to the Union League club house by the First City troop of cavalry, which has acted as escort to every president of recent years who has visited Philadelphia. The way from the station to the Union League club was lined with thousands of citizens, who cheered the president vociferously.

Gen. Horace Porter of New York and President James F. Hope of the Union League, were among the speakers who preceded President Taft.

Mr. Taft said in part:

"There are certain things with respect to General Grant that today come back with reference to our passing life. They said that Grant had not the military genius that other generals displayed in the war. To my mind his mind and brain represented the very genius of the war to suppress the rebellion because it was his mind that grasped the thought that until we had fought it out with our brave opponents and met them in the field and fought them as soldiers, until we convinced them by our strength that the battle was hopeless, we could not expect to have a united country."

"What I wished particularly to dwell upon tonight was the spirit of that peace at Appomattox, represented on the one hand by the magnanimity and far-sightedness of Grant and by the self-restraint and courage and far-sighted patriotism on the part of Lee in bringing the struggle to a finish. That spirit at Appomattox is today, I trust, triumphant."

"What I mean to point out is that the spirit we now rejoice in, as we find between the two sections no remaining bitterness, is a spirit that as between the two great commanders existed the day they shook hands and signed the terms of surrender. It is a matter that I have very much at heart."

"I believe it is possible to make the two sections even closer together. The south is the more homogeneous people than we. Immigration into this country spread over the north and went into the south, and the south preserved its traditions longer than did we in the north. Added to that trait and quality of theirs was the fact that for a long time the traces of war and the sufferings from war were present to them, and always they have present the colored race to bring back recollections of the strife."

"I feel certain that the real spirit of Appomattox is marching on and that it is infusing itself in the people of the south as it was long ago infused in the people of the north and that we are growing closer and closer together, and that it will manifest itself in political independence of the country over, so that we shall not know each other by sections in political matters, but by decision in principles."

President Taft left for Washington shortly after midnight. There were few persons at or about the depot when the train pulled out.

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the two following letters for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by female diseases.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I have been a great sufferer with a constant pain in my back. I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it, and the pain has disappeared. I feel like a new woman since that awful pain has gone, and may God bless the discoverer of that great and wonderful remedy."—Mrs. Peter Gaffney, 548 Marcy Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world about it."

"I suffered from female troubles and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I am ready to tell every one what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. Emma Imse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you what it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for female ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

JORDAN'S MOTHER

Says Prisoner Was Subject to Nervous Disorders

CAMBRIDGE, April 28.—When Chester S. Jordan entered the Middlesex county court room today for the continuation of his trial on the charge of murdering his wife, he was cheered by the presence of every member of his family. Today was the first time that all the members of the Jordan family had been together in the court room. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Jordan, the parents of the accused man; Elmer Jordan, a brother, and Mrs. Elmer Jordan; Mrs. Frederick Kendall, a sister and her husband and Mrs. Jesse Livermore of New York, wife of the well known cotton market operator. Mrs. Livermore is a sister of the prisoner. Mrs. Livermore was dressed in black and wore a thick black veil to the chagrin of the members of the camera battalion who were lined up in front of the court house.

When the court resumed its sessions today Mrs. Phineas Jordan, who was on the stand at adjournment yesterday, continued her testimony.

A long expected clash over the question of subjecting Jordan to an examination by alienists, developed shortly after the opening of the trial when the government asked that Jordan might be interviewed by specialists. The request was at first refused, but later counsel for the defense stated that it might be possible that two of the government's alienists would be allowed to examine the accused man with the understanding that their conclusions should not be used as evidence in the case. The court then suggested that the attorneys on both sides confer and if they came to an agreement that the examination should be made as soon as possible.

A few minor words from Mrs. Phineas Jordan regarding the early life of her son were drawn out by District Attorney Higgins. She said that Jordan was subjected to severe nervous disorders, "tantrums" she called them, that he had frequent bleedings from the nose and was not like other children.

Jordan was very nervous when his sister Nettie, Mrs. Jesse Livermore, of New York, wife of the cotton broker, followed her mother on the stand. He moved uneasily in his seat and did not look at her as she described his actions when a boy in Indianapolis and said he did not speak plainly and had a severe accident to his head caused by falling through a gate.

WANTS AN INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, April 28.—When the discussion of the tariff was resumed in the senate today Mr. Brown, of Nebraska, spoke of his amendment recently introduced providing for a constitutional amendment in favor of an income tax. He argued that the people of the several states should have the opportunity to voting on the question in order that the validity of such a law never would be questioned.

"We owe this to the people," he said, "because there has long been an earnest and determined demand for an equitable income tax."

They had, he declared, accepted the device of the court and had become resigned to the fact that such a law was unconstitutional but he claimed that congress owed to them to be given a chance to say whether the constitution should be made to sanction a system of taxation approved by the majority of American citizens and by the economists of the entire civilized world.

O'MEARA'S ORDER

CHECK ON AUTOISTS WHO INVITE GIRLS

BOSTON, April 28.—Acting upon orders issued last night by Commissioner O'Meara, the police will begin an active campaign to prevent men in autos from giving rides to young girls with whom they are not acquainted. This practice has become so flagrant that the commissioner has been studying it for a long time in an effort to devise some plan to stop it.

SPICY TESTIMONY

At Today's Session of Police Board Hearing

When the mayor's police board hearing was resumed this forenoon, Deputy Superintendent Welch who had been called, but not questioned, when the hearing adjourned last evening was recalled.

Mr. Welch testified that on Sunday, January 17, 1909, the mayor telephoned to him and told him that he would come down to the police station and take charge of the police department.

Witness said the mayor told him to notify the superintendent that he would be down to take charge of the police department within an hour.

Witness said the mayor did not make good. He did not "come down and take charge of the department."

Telling of an interview that took place between himself and the mayor, the mayor having summoned him to the city hall, Mr. Welch said, the mayor said:

"You received a complaint about a train taken from Middlesex street last Wednesday evening."

"I said I had not heard anything about a stolen train."

"Do you mean to tell me that I am tramping up a charge?"

"No sir," I answered.

"You want to remember that I am mayor of this city now and you are my subordinate," he said and he added:

"Don't you get impatient."

"I do not intend to be considered impatient," I replied.

"Don't get snappy with me," said the mayor.

No reply.

"Remember I am mayor of the city and you are my subordinate," reiterated the mayor.

The deputy also testified that the mayor said to him over the telephone that he (the mayor) "could not stand for Moffatt's officers going around brow-beating people and making fools of themselves."

Mayor Objects
The mayor at this point objected to his office being made a subject of inquiry. Mr. Moffatt said he had not taken any step to embarrass the mayor in any way except so far as the exigencies of the hearing required. He said he had been very cautious along that line, because that in his practice of the law he did not wish to embarrass anybody unnecessarily.

Supt. Moffatt Called
Supt. Wm. B. Moffatt was called and corroborated in substance what Deputy Welch said. Mr. Moffatt said that he received the mayor's message in which the mayor stated that he would go down to and take charge of the police department.

Mr. Moffatt was sick at his home at the time, but he got up and dressed and went down to the police station. He patiently awaited the arrival of the mayor, but the mayor didn't arrive.

Mr. Moffatt testified as to the conversation he had with Mr. Hayes, the Gorham St. hotel, who testified yesterday. He said that when he learned from Mr. Hayes that he had a news stand he told him he was at liberty to keep open on Sunday.

Moffatt's Denial
Asked by counsel for the prosecution if he had called patrolmen into his office and asked them how they were going to testify at the hearing now in session, Mr. Moffatt said, "No," very emphatically.

Mayor Called on Spotters
John F. Farrell, a clerk at the Belvidere hotel, said that the so-called spotters, Knight, Nason and Jenkins, stopped at the Belvidere hotel.

He said that Mayor Brown called at the hotel and talked with them. The mayor entered the hotel, kicked the feet of Nason and motioned him to an inside room.

Asked as to how he happened to be a witness, Mr. Farrell said he was asked by John Pinder to testify as to his knowledge of the spotters, so-called; their connection with the mayor. He said Mr. Pinder spoke to him yesterday.

Witness denied the soft impeachment that the case at the Belvidere hotel was covered with rust. He said he was in the habit of cooking his breakfast there.

The Mayor's Speeches
Anthony J. Cunningham was the next witness. He testified as to speeches he had heard made by Mr. Brown when running for mayor.

He said the mayor said at a speech at Tower's corner, "If I am elected mayor you won't have to be an agent for the Harvard brewery and you won't have to deposit your money in a bank."

Asked by counsel for the prosecution when he lived with witness said:

With my wife.

Asked when he had talked to relatives to appear at the hearing as a witness, Mr. Cunningham said he had talked with Mr. Pennington. The latter was in the audience and advised the witness to go slow. "Don't be the first out of the bag," he said, and then he left.

Mr. Cunningham gave a very excellent report of what Mr. Brown said on the radio in questioning, and said that counsel for the prosecution asked him if he was a newspaper reporter.

him to attend the hearing in the capacity of a witness.

Mayor's Inaugural
At 11:30 a recess of ten minutes was declared and when the hearing was resumed Mr. Bent said he wanted to read the mayor's inaugural into the records. Counsel for prosecution objected on the ground that it was already in an exhibit matter. The mayor allowed Mr. Bent to read and read that portion of the inaugural referring to the police department, all of which has been printed in The Sun and commented upon.

Number of Prosecutions
Supt. Moffatt was recalled and was questioned by Mr. Johnson. Mr. Moffatt testified as to the number of prosecutions for violation of the liquor law. He said that from Jan. 1, 1908, to April 1, 1909, 150 search warrants had been taken out; there were 43 prosecutions and these cases were all independent of the so-called sandwich cases.

Mr. Moffatt testified as to the establishment of hotels in Lowell. All were old hotels, he said, except the Park hotel. Mr. Moffatt testified as to a suggestion made by the hotel men to the police board and himself to the effect that it would be well to number waiters, so that a waiter who served a drunken man, or a man who ordered drink without food, might be pointed out and discharged.

Mr. Johnson asked Mr. Moffatt as to his knowledge of the discharge of waiters. Mr. Moffatt said several had been discharged. Counsel for prosecution objected to witness telling what he had heard relative to discharge of waiters but the mayor allowed the question.

On direct examination Supt. Moffatt said: "I believe it was in October, 1908, that the police board decided to have advice of counsel and I telephoned Mr. M. Johnson of Boston. Mr. Johnson came to Lowell Nov. 13 last and had a consultation with the police board."

In consequence of that interview I was instructed to furnish information against Lowell hotel owners and sum them up before the police and license board.

Patrolman Brown was at the office of the police board but I do not remember the day. Before Patrolman Brown went before the police board I requested him to don his uniform. He told me he was at lack of absence and declined to wear the uniform.

Talked With Brown
In 1905 I had a talk with Mr. Brown. He asked me to have him appointed a police inspector and given charge of the enforcement of the liquor law.

"I told him there were other men in the department more entitled to the promotion. He said that his activity in the no-license year entitled him to the promotion."

"One Sunday afternoon in the guard room he requested leave of absence and I refused as he did not offer a legitimate excuse. He asked why he was obliged to come before the superintendent for leave of absence and I told him it was because he had been absent a number of times from duty. He said it appeared to him that he was being persecuted."

The Coughlin Cases
I talked with Rev. J. M. Craig about the Coughlin cases.

He advised me not to have anything to do with the cases and I so reported to the police board.

On cross-examination by counsel for prosecution, Supt. Moffatt said: "I did not say to Mr. Brown that I would not recommend him for promotion because I had heard that he had his hand out."

Major Noyes Testifies
Major E. J. Noyes was sworn. He said he had lived in Lowell for 33 years. He answered questions relative to his army life and his public life.

Asked as to the discipline and efficiency of the police department, he said: "I consider the discipline good and the conduct of the officers perfect in every way."

Major Noyes is an ex-mayor and an ex-superintendent of police, and is closely associated with the police department because of his position as corporation detective. He said the police department is in fine shape.

CAWLEY PLANT

Inspected by Fiat Automobile Company

Labor Conditions in Lowell Are Pleasing to Auto Manufacturers —Company Wants 150,000 Feet of Floor Space

Albert E. Schaaf, a representative of the Fiat Automobile company, came to Lowell today on invitation of Mr. John O. Henze and made an inspection of the unoccupied part of the Cawley plant at Atherton or Warrentonville. The Fiat company is an Italian concern and is about to start a factory in this country. It desires 150,000 feet of floor space, but does not want any capital or bonuses.

The unoccupied part of the Cawley plant consists of three floors in the main wing, 224 by 44 feet; one floor, 218 by 39; a foundry, 120 by 60, and the office buildings.

Mr. Schaaf stated that the plant was rather old, but at the same time he was most favorably impressed with the labor conditions in this city. He said that the labor conditions would appeal strongly to the company. Before leaving town he called on Secretary McKenna of the board of trade, and the latter promised to send the New York office of the company a plan of the buildings.

AMERICAN WOMEN REPORTED TO BE IN DANGER
CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28.—The following telegram was received here today from Miss Rose Lambert, one of the besieged American women in Saloniki at Hadjin.

"It sets forth the danger surrounding Miss Lambert and her companions who are quite alone. The messenger who first started with the message to the telegraph office was detained on the way. The communication is dated Hadjin, April 26, and says:

"The rising against the Christians of Hadjin began nine days ago. The government sent troops to suppress the fighting between Mohammedans and Christians, but the men were not strong enough numerically to restore order. Many are dead and wounded on both sides."

"Desperadoes occupied the Armenian cloister five days ago and have been firing on the people without interruption since."

"The Armenian churches are now showing white flags, indicating that there will be no further resistance, yet the shooting and the plundering continue. Many shops have been robbed."

6 O'CLOCK TWO MEN ARRESTED

They Are Charged With Attempting to Extort $10,000

BOSTON, April 28.—Charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from Jas. S. Whittier, a man under the name of Willie Whittier, two men were brought to police headquarters today for an examination. The men who were arrested yesterday at the South End postoffice gave their names as John W. Wright and Ernest H. Martin. Wright said that he lived at an Elliot street building house, while Martin said that his home was at Templeton place, Dorchester.

The police claim that on April 22 Wright and Martin wrote a letter to Mr. Whittier, demanding that he send them $10,000 or else they would kidnap his little son Willie. The letter stated that the writers were that and that they had no regard for the life of the child, that he would only be the means of accomplishing their ends.

From the general tone of the letter the police believed that a close watch at the South End post office might be profitable.

Yesterday afternoon two officers who were awaiting developments there saw Wright and Martin enter. Wright went to the delivery window and asked for mail while Martin waited outside the door. As the men started to leave the post office they were arrested as suspicious characters and taken to the East Dedham street police station where they spent the night. They were brought to headquarters this morning.

The police said today that a search of Martin's pockets resulted in finding a red ink and similar to the ink used in the letter to Mr. Whittier.

Wright is 29 years of age and Martin 25.

The letter was printed in red ink, apparently with rubber type on white paper and was mailed from the Dorchester central postoffice. It was as follows:

Dear Sir: Our society not having received the money for return of boy, voted to send the four men that had charge of all arrangements of getting boy and take him again in the night. This may mean death to the boy. It was voted to give you a chance to pay money. The black hand on receiving same will not trouble you. Not interested in the boy, just tools for our men. Send $10,000 in $5 bills and $5000 in $1000 bills. Send it in three lots, have it here Monday morning. No truckers or it will go hard with the boy when taken. Will send a man of steel for letters.

"Send Arthur Howard Brown, post station A, Boston, Mass."

After the arrest of the two men Martin told the police that he had met a man who told him he would give him 50 cents if he would call at the South End postoffice, station A, and ask for a letter for Arthur Howard Brown.

INFANT MORTALITY

In Textile Cities Discussed by Episcopal Convention Today

BOSTON, April 28.—Report that the Episcopal church has not taken a prominent part in the restriction of the liquor traffic was expressed by the committee on social progress and the state of the church in its report submitted to the 12th annual convention of the diocese of Massachusetts held in the parish house of Trinity church today. The committee expressed the opinion that there is no need for difference, however, much Christian men may differ as to the proper measure for reform. It suggested that in the great wave of successful antagonism to the saloon which has swept over America, churches (Episcopalians) have not taken a more conspicuous part and the church's prestige has suffered in consequence of an overtimid conservatism.

The committee also considered infant mortality in textile cities, this subject having been brought to its attention as a result of a high death rate among infants in Fall River. This report had been prepared for the committee by Prof. C. E. Winslow.

One of Prof. Winslow's conclusions is that so far as Fall River is concerned its high rate of infant mortality could be lessened by a better milk supply, and he recommended the introduction of well-managed milk stations. For the state at large he recommended day nurseries, women visitors equipped with a general knowledge of the hygiene of infancy and a good milk station.

The convention was called to order by Bishop Lawrence at 2 o'clock, followed by a celebration of the holy communion in the church. The sermon was by Rev. William Van Allen, rector of the church of the Advent, Boston, and president of the Massachusetts Church Union, Episcopal.

Following the church service the convention recessed and a banquet for members of the cathedral chapter and diocesan officers.

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 28.—The police were called to the home of William Riedell, 22 Barr street, this morning and placed him under arrest. It is claimed that the man had been drinking heavily and was assaulting his wife, choking her when his son, Fritz, one of eight children, 19 years of age, interfered and caused his father to desist from his assault. The father then turned upon his son and seizing a large carving knife inflicted a severe wound on the boy's neck. A younger child gave the alarm and the man was arrested.

BIG CONVENTION

Cotton Manufacturers Opened Their Session in Boston

BOSTON, April 28.—More than $350,000 in textile interests was represented today when the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers opened its annual convention in Mechanics hall in this city today. The meeting was a notable assemblage of textile manufacturers present from nearly every state in the Union. This body is one of the strongest of its character in the world, and includes in its membership men affiliated with most of the leading textile manufacturing industries of the United States. The association is more than national in its scope, having over 1000 members distributed through all the cotton manufacturing districts of the United States and many in foreign countries. About half of its membership consists of persons primarily engaged in the financial side of cotton manufacturing and the remainder are identified with the technical end of the business. The mills represented by its members operate 20,000,000 spindles, 1,000 sets of wool and worsted cards, 6000 knitting machines and 75 printing machines.

The convention was called to order late in the forenoon and the transaction of business immediately began. The reports of the different officers were then submitted and the association medal awarded. Gov. Eben S. Draper made an address welcoming the delegates to the state, and Franklin Hobbs spoke in response.

This year for the first time an exhibition of cotton machinery, mill supplies and general textile products is held as a supplementary feature of the convention.

The association has been invited to send delegates to the sixth international congress of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers association, which will be held at Milan on May 18 and 19. The hall was well filled when Secretary C. J. Woodberry opened the proceedings by submitting his annual report.

The association medal for the most useful contribution to the welfare of cotton manufacturing during the past year was awarded to James R. MacCall of Providence, treasurer of the Looming Mill Co., for his services in establishing close relations with foreign manufacturers.

The visit of Gov. Draper, who fulfilled a similar mission last year, proved an interesting incident.

President Phineas C. Adams reviewed briefly the business of the industry during the year, during which he said there had been a returning tide of immigration, a great cotton crop and a growth in the industry both in this country and abroad. President Phineas also dwelt with some emphasis upon the necessity of the preservation of the water power on the Atlantic watershed and stated that the board of government of the association has

LATEST OFFICIAL DECISION

Authorizing Deposition of the Sultan Made Public

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28.—The fetwa, or official decision of the shiek-ul-islam, authorizing the deposition of Abdul Hamid, has been made public. It embraces the questions put by parliament to the shiek-ul-islam and his answer thereto. The text follows:

"What becomes of an imam (the title of the sultan of Turkey as head of the Orthodox faith) who has destroyed certain holy writings, who has seized property in contravention to the sheri laws, who has committed cruelties in ordering the assassination and imprisonment of exiles without any justification under the sheri laws, who has squandered the public money, who, having sworn to govern according to the sheri law, has violated his oath, who, by gifts of money, has provoked inter-nection bloodshed and civil war and who no longer is recognized in the provinces?"

To this the shiek-ul-islam replied: "He must abdicate or be deposed." Not one of the Constantinople newspapers has a good word for Abdul Hamid, whose life and reign are being held up to universal execration. On the other hand, the accession of Mehmed V is regarded as the dawn of a new era.

In order to enable the public to indulge in rejoicings there has been ordered a temporary suspension of the state of siege until 10 o'clock tonight. The city will be illuminated but fireworks have been prohibited.

The cabinet has been requested to remain in office for some days longer.

Verdier comes from Haute Garonne. The police believe that he is insane. President Fallieres arrived here yesterday in an auto from Nice and he and the members of his party were given a hearty welcome and entertained at lunch by the prince of Monaco.

This simple civil ceremony was performed in person by Roger Allou, the mayor. Only a few of the immediate members of the families of the bride and groom were present. Countess Scharf-Thoss, the groom's mother, was not present on account of ill health. Following the ceremony the mayor delivered a brief address in which he expressed his good wishes for the pair and referred to the distinguished career of the bride's father and the ties uniting France and the United States.

The wedding presents which have come from America, Germany, France and Italy, were displayed at the embassy this afternoon.

THE LATE JOSHUA DANIELS

JOSHUA DANIELS

Sage of Tewksbury Passed Away

Joshua Wentworth Daniels, the eccentric sage of Tewksbury, died yesterday at the Danvers asylum, where he was committed about a year ago, after a brief attack of pneumonia.

The deceased for many years was a familiar figure in Lowell and Tewksbury and his mental decline a year ago or more caused much regret among the many who knew and admired the remarkable old gentleman.

Mr. Daniels was 87 years, 4 months and 14 days old, and before beginning life as a farmer had been a successful manufacturer. For many years he was an active member of the Middlesex North Agricultural society, and a Tewksbury town meeting would not be complete in the old days without him.

For he never missed a discussion on any subject of importance in town affairs and was decidedly frank in all his remarks. He is survived by a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Florence E. Pierce, and a granddaughter, Miss Margaret D.

Pierce. The remains were brought to this city by Undertaker John A. Weinbeck.

FUNERALS

MARTIN—The funeral of the late Timothy Martin took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from his home, 4 year of 163 Adams street and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where at nine o'clock a mass of requiem was sung, Rev. Fr. Curtin officiating. The choir under the direction of Michael J. Johnson sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Pie Jesu" was rendered and at the conclusion the choir sang the De Profundis. Mr. Johnson presided at the organ. The bearers were John Regan, William Downing, Daniel Lyons and Daniel Rock. At the grave Rev. Fr. Curtin read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

ZINCK—The funeral of Walter Zinck took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of his parents, Charles and Catherine Zinck, 5 rear of 137 Charles street. Funeral services were held at the residence. Rev. Geo. C. Wright officiated. Burial was in the Edison cemetery. Rev. Mr. Wright read the prayers at the grave. Arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was

15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilette, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The great question of the hour with some of our officials is "how to get by."

ALDRICH'S PERFDY AND DISHONOR.

The attitude of Senator Aldrich in putting up many of the schedules that the national house would take down, and taxing what the house would put upon the free list has aroused a large portion of the republican party. The standpaters and trusts alone rejoice. Aldrich stands out for putting bids on the taxed list for the beef trust, he favors an increase of iron and steel duties for the steel trust, restoration of coal duties for the coal trust, a duty on wood pulp for the paper trust, and so on with a great many other trusts.

When the Gorman tariff bill was put up to President Cleveland he stigmatized it as a tariff of "perfidy and dishonor." The Aldrich bill is a great deal worse than was the Gorman bill, and yet President Taft is silent. It is such a bill as the trusts of the country would prepare for their own special benefit and aggrandizement. The consumer has no consideration in Aldrich's scheme. Aldrich henceforth should be dubbed the foster father of the robber trusts.

LAWRENCE—HER MAYOR AND HER NEWSPAPERS

The people of Lawrence are having their experience with a mayor who entered office to clean up, to drive out the grafters, to purify politics and to redeem the city from abuses of every kind, but somehow, none of these promises are being fulfilled.

All the people have seen since the new mayor took office is a fight for political advantage, the mayor trying to oust officials in order to get others in who will assist him in building up a political machine.

The mayor of Lawrence, like the mayor of Lowell, makes a specialty of assailing the newspapers, and in this connection the Lawrence American makes answer in the following plain terms:

"Some of our worthy mayor's remarks do not look particularly well in print and some of his statements require corroborative evidence before they may be accepted as law and gospel. "For instance, when he spoke recently before a church society he roundly denounced the press of this city as the worst in the country. It is always true of the demagogue that he bids for favor by attacking the press. That's his way of getting back at the press for not endorsing him. It's one of the parts of the game, to denounce the press, and it always strikes a responsive chord somewhere, for there are always people who think that they have a grievance against the newspapers. It's a simple matter for our dauntless mayor to attack the press, but why doesn't he answer some of the questions put to him by the press?"

The Lawrence paper states a broad truth when it points out that it is part of the demagogue's game to denounce the press and bid for popular favor by attacking the press. In the long run the people will discover that the man who finds it necessary to attack the press for not endorsing his candidacy, is not a man that an honest paper can conscientiously endorse. The Lawrence situation is duplicated in many cities, and two things are responsible for that fact: first, the Luce law and second the unwillingness of some people to take the advice of honest newspapers.

CAMPAIGN TO UPLIFT OUR BOYS

The campaign for boys in which several distinguished speakers delivered addresses in this city yesterday, is one that should be strongly commended. There is much room for effective work for the betterment of boys. There are boys who are allowed to spend their time in idleness or in the acquisition of bad habits who might be easily induced to apply themselves to some useful purpose, in learning a trade or in developing their physical or mental powers.

The juvenile delinquent law that has been in force in this state for some years does not seem to have had the salutary effect intended upon boys. On the contrary in many cases it seems to have shielded them in petty offenses until they reached the age at which they pass from under the protecting shield of this law and become amenable to the laws that apply to adults. As a result of the leniency extended during their youthful years, the boys acquired fixed habits of idleness and waywardness, and these in later years easily developed into criminality, with the result that the boys on reaching the age of seventeen or eighteen years were convicted of offenses that resulted naturally from their lack of training. What has been accomplished by Judge Lindsay of Denver, John A. Gunckel of Toledo, Bert Hall of Milwaukee, Jane Day and Julia Richman, Dr. Gulick and Lee F. Hamner indicates the possibilities of this campaign in behalf of boys.

What needs to be done is, to bring to the attention of teachers and parents the best methods of interesting and developing the physical and intellectual powers of their boys as well as training them to do what is right, to respect themselves and respect the laws under which they live, to respect the rights of others and make themselves useful citizens instead of idlers or criminals. There is much to be accomplished for boys through athletic associations, public playgrounds, clubs, manual training institutions and trades schools.

A great many boys are handicapped from the fact that their parents are unable to assist them in the right direction or to provide for them the opportunities which boys require for amusement, training and advancement. Too often boys are left to acquire their education on the street which has been well named "The University of Crime." That is true, of course, only when boys are let roam the streets without any restraint as to the time they should return home at night or as to the companions with whom they associate. If by the campaign now in progress these evils can be held up to public view so as to be overcome wherever possible, much good will result and many boys will be turned from idleness and criminality to thrift, industry and good citizenship.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Louise Glossy Hale, author of the new Harper novel, "The Actress," attributes most of the enjoyment to be got out of life to a capacity for seeing the joke when it is on one's self. While I was writing "The Actress," Mrs. Hale said, "I was touring England part of the time, and I often wished I could put my various landladies of the 'diggins' in which we lived into my book. They knew very little of Americans, and expected us all to talk through our noses. She speaks quite nicely, doesn't she?" said I. "Landlady to my washerwoman right before my face. Another, after I had put on the ironing board, the forlorn bride, Miss Hazy, wearing the Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, had occasion to come to the theatre to being a parcel, and viewed the much satisfaction. 'Now, you are something like it,' was her statement, which was too fraught with dire suggestion to require any further words."

There are Chicago public schools bearing the names of Louis A. Blodgett, Alice L. Barnard, Myra Blodgett, Julia Ward Howe, Maria Mitchell, Elizabeth Peabody, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Frances E. Willard. Alice L. Barnard was a Chicago teacher.

Miss Mary Proctor, the astronomer has returned from England, where she has been giving lectures. She brought to the Sunshine society in New York 75 foreign post cards, including many from the Orient. These are to be mailed as gifts for "shut-ins."

These are the recently elected officers of the National Consumers League: President, John Graham Brooks, Cambridge; vice-presidents, Frederick Nathan, New York; Mrs. W. W. Wilbur, Illinois; Mrs. B. H. Trumbull, Ohio; Mrs. B. C. Gadden, Wisconsin; Mrs. C. H. Howe, Ohio; Miss Jean Gordon, Louisiana; Mrs. R. H. Hallack, Kentucky; treasurer, G. Hermann Kinnel, New York; recording secretary, Mrs. G. W. B. Cushing, New Jersey; general secretary, Mrs. Florence Kelley, 165 East 22d street, New York.

The famous Barnado Orphan Homes in London are now receiving an average of 192 children a week. In the history of the home more than 67,000 children have been gathered in and cared for. More than 8,000 are now in the care of the homes.

There was recently unveiled at Mt. Holyoke college a tablet containing the names of 175 graduates who, during the first half century of the college's life, from 1837 to 1887, went out as foreign missionaries.

An alluring invitation is given for this season to the tenement dwellers of Chicago by the great world of "out of doors." It comes through the hospitality of the McCormick branch of the International Harvester company and a board of enthusiastic assistants, and takes the form of a "city farm," laid out and ready for planting and waiting to be tended by those who otherwise might spend their time over wastebins. Knives, axes, hoes, just been given for the purpose by the harvester company on the recommendation of their social welfare adviser, C. W. Price. The ground lies between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets and extends north and south over some three or four blocks. It will make the largest farm of the sort in the United States.

Alfred Bonet, the tenor of the Metropolitan opera house, left New York for London out of the city. He has just returned from that theatre in the season just ended. "The intrigues and dissensions there," the Times quotes him, "have been disgusting. The double management made life unbearable. One never knew where one stood." In particular, Mr. Bonet was resentful because he had not succeeded to some of Mr. Caruso's parts when the tenor fell ill, and because he had been sent away in February on a long concert tour. He ought, he said, to return to the Metropolitan next autumn; he might go to the Manhattan opera. Miss Destina also departed for Covent Garden on the same ship, but in a more contented mood. New York had been good to her, she said, and Chicago discriminating.

Harry A. Franck, in his amusing story of his tramp round the world in Harper's Weekly, throws an interesting light upon some Italian conceptions of America. When his nationality was disclosed to the inmates of a wayside tavern he was pined with many questions. "Is America father than Switzerland?" said one interrogator. "Did you walk all the way from America here?" "Why, are you a native American?" I thought Americans were black. "Who is king of America?" And one woman inquired in all sincerity, "In America you worship the sun. Non e vero?" "I mildly ventured the statement one evening that the United States, as a whole, is as large, if not larger than Italy," says the author. "My hearers were winking the with shouts of decision when one of the party came to my rescue. 'Certain that's right,' he cried. 'It is larger. I've a brother in Buenos Ayres, and I know, America is the United States, as this signore prefers to call it, has provinces just like Italy. The provinces are Brazil, Uruguay, Republica, Argentina and Nouva York.'"

AN ITCHING PALM

No Cure for It. Other Forms of Itching Preferable

There is no cure for an itching palm—the money kind. Even psoriasis, the new skin discovery, cannot help it. It is when it comes to eczema, the most annoying of itching skin troubles, psoriasis will stop the itching at once and with relief, rash, sores, split toes, blisters and such signs of skin disease disappear and are caused by hyper-digestion and careless diet.

Psoriasis comes in three-dollar jars, but fifty cents' worth will answer in curing any of the diseases mentioned. It can be had of any druggist. Bucklin's is at Carter & Sherburne, 22 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City. Will send free by mail, in plain wrapper, to any one who will write for it.

Mrs. Florence Kelley, 165 East 22d street, New York.

An adaptation of the moving picture show has been made in the Fullerton Avenue Presbyterian church of Cleveland, which every Friday evening gives an entertainment for the children of the neighborhood.

YOUTH KILLED

He Was Drawn Under Wheels of Train

MELROSE, April 28.—The powerful suction caused by a rapidly moving Boston & Maine express train last night drew Max Lundy, 17 years old, beneath the wheels, where he was killed. With the boy at the time of the unusual accident, and in equal danger, was Miss Ellen M. Stone, whose capricious father four years ago brought her into international attention. Miss Stone, however, was uninjured. Young Lundy was a student at Melrose high school and a prominent athlete.

LARGE EARNINGS

U. S. Steel Co. Made $22,921,268

NEW YORK, April 28.—The quarterly report of the U. S. Steel corporation for the three months ended March 31, show total earnings after deducting all expenses incident to operation of $22,921,268. Deducting interest charges, sinking fund, etc., the net earnings are $18,153,065.

These returns were nearly $2,000,000 more than Wall Street had expected. Ever since the cut in steel prices it has been expected that the earnings for the three months would show a big falling off.

There has been a persistent report that the total would be less than $20,000,000, and even the more optimistic of Wall Street guessers did not place the total above $21,000,000. The report issued yesterday, however, was not as favorable in all features as the earnings would indicate.

The best barometer of the steel business is the amount of the unfilled orders. According to the report issued yesterday, these orders on March 31 were 3,542,255 tons, as compared with 3,603,527 on Dec. 31 and 3,763,215 tons on March 31, 1908.

SKULL FRACTURED

BELIEVED THAT MAN WAS KILLED BY AUTO

TAUNTON, April 28.—Under circumstances which indicate that he was killed by an automobile, the body of William Shea, about 32 years old, and a son of Julia Shea of 114 West street, this city, was found in Rehoboth on the Providence turnpike, about a quarter of a mile south of the Anawan house yesterday afternoon. The body was discovered by James Donahue, conductor of a Taunton & Providence electric, who notified the local police. They reported the case to the Rehoboth authorities. Medical Examiner Holden and State Detective Alfred E. Hodges of this city.

The position of the body and tracks in the road indicated that Shea had been struck and run over by an automobile. His skull was fractured and he had sustained other injuries.

12 ASSISTANTS

ABOUT TO BE APPOINTED BY ASSESSORS

The board of assessors practically decided upon the 12 assistant assessors to begin work May 1, but no formal vote has been taken.

Under the old system, six assistant assessors were employed, and they worked about two months apiece, but under a law passed some time ago, the assessors are required to obtain their information at an earlier time, hence the increase of the force.

With 12 men employed the work is done in about four weeks, and the pay is $3 a day. The assistant assessors are required to obtain all information relative to polls and personal estate, also to ownership of dogs. Their work is done by precincts.

CHANGE OF NAME

The Andover Conference Took Action

The Andover conference held its spring meeting at the Highland Congregational church, yesterday afternoon and evening with a large attendance of delegates.

The principal feature of the business was the report of the special committee appointed last year relative to greater democracy in church affairs. The committee reported favorably and, after considerable debate, it was voted to change the constitution of the Andover conference—incidentally its official name—so that laymen shall be members of the ministerial board hereafter.

The session was called to order at 2:30 o'clock with Asa C. Russell as moderator. Rev. Owen H. Gates was the secretary. For 15 minutes, devotional services were held, led by Rev. Thomas A. Carlton of Braintree. The business session opened at 2:45 o'clock. The records of the last session were read, and under the head of new business a business committee was appointed by the moderator. It was made up of Rev. A. C. Ferrin, Rev. E. Victor Bigelow and Rev. George E. Lovejoy of the South church, Lawrence. On motion of Rev. Mr. Willimott, these were elected.

Reports of standing committees were then heard. Rev. F. A. Wilson, of the Free Christian church, Andover, reported for "Work of the Churches."

Rev. A. F. Dannels, of the Highland church, reported on "Systematic Giving." He spoke of the apportionment plan recently advanced, at a meeting of the campaign in the interests of the seven missionary societies of the church. He reported the apportionment of the churches as follows:

Andover, South church, $1000; West church, $552; Free Christian church, $666; and Ballardville, $300; Chelmsford, second church (North), $357; and Central church, $253; Braintree, First church, $224; and Central church, $233; Lawrence, Lawrence Street church, $600; South church, $356; Riverside church, $210; and Central church, $910; and United church, $586; Lowell, First church, $607; First church, $1256; Trinitarian church, $1355; Elliot church, $380; Kirk Street church, $2452; High Street church, $325; Highland church, $332; and Swedish Congregational church, $165; Methuen, Trinitarian church, $507; Trinitarian church, $322; North Andover, First church, $322; and Trinitarian, Evangelical church, $216.

On motion of Rev. C. H. Oliphant of Methuen, the report on "Fellowship" was omitted. Rev. Victor Bigelow reported on "Mission Churches."

Rev. G. A. Huddy, of North Chelmsford, reported on "Statistics." Of the 27 churches in the conference four are without pastors, he said. The total membership is 7122. The resident membership is 5040, the largest in many years. Almost 20 per cent. are absent members. In four churches, there have been no additions to the membership. In 12 there have been losses.

Rev. W. E. Wolcott, of Lawrence, then made the report of the special committee appointed last fall.

He said that the conference covers two large, prosperous manufacturing cities. An committee have been spreading out. It ought to be a part of the work of the conference, he said, to locate places of worship in the new communities. In the last decade, notwithstanding the increase in the size of cities and towns, there has been no new Congregational church established in this conference. In the last 40 years, but four new churches have been established, and two of these were simply reorganized. "What's the trouble?" asked Rev. Mr. Wolcott. The Congregational church has been shouting independence of the local church so long that it has lost sight of fellowship. He then read the report of the committee to the effect that the name of the conference be changed to the Andover Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers, that the association assume charge of such ministers as are in its bounds. The committee further favored the appointment of a committee to consist of three clergymen and three laymen, one of each to retire annually. The matter of all cases of imposing discipline or granting licenses must come before the council of the church for action. The reports were accepted. The matter of accepting the changes in the constitution was then before the conference, and, after each article had been discussed, it was voted to adopt the changes. The afternoon session adjourned shortly before 6 o'clock.

Evening Session

At the opening of the evening service a collection was taken up for the ministerial relief association. Rev. John L. Keedy conducted the opening devotional service.

The first topic for discussion was "The Civic Opportunity of the Church" and the speakers were Rev. George F. Kenngott and Frederick H. Jones of Andover. The last address was on "The Church and the World's Civilization."

O'CONNELL RECOVERED

George O'Connell who was seized with a hemorrhage of the lungs yesterday morning at the Bridmar Chambers, corner Worthen and Fletcher streets, was discharged from the hospital last night. O'Connell belongs in Lynn and has been in this city but a short time.

The hospital has been such that he was placed on the discharge list, but he called during the day and improved so rapidly that when he asked permission to leave the hospital he was allowed to do so.

SHOE SHOP BALL

Federal Employees Held Merry Party

Associate Ball never looked more attractive than it did last evening at the second annual ball of the Federal Shoe company, for the decorations were both lavish and artistic. The platform was enclosed within a proscenium arch of artificial flowers and electric lights while the orchestra was embowered amid stately tropical plants. From the chandelier in the center streamers of pink and white extended to all corners of the ball, while suspended from the central point was a large basket of artificial flowers under which hung a great cluster of violets. The balcony rail and the windows were also adorned.

There was no grand march, but a delightful concert program was given by the Federal orchestra of 10 pieces. Joseph F. Deignan, musical director, and Frank J. Deignan, concert master. A dance order of 25 numbers was thoroughly enjoyed, the usual extras being included and it was after midnight when the pleasant affair came to a conclusion. LOST HIS GOLD "HANDKERCHIEF GAME" WAS WORKED ON MAN

BOSTON, April 28.—The police learned yesterday of the loss of 10 gold sovereigns from James Haggie, who was bound for Scotland on the Hesperian yesterday. He was the victim of the well known "handkerchief game," which is usually worked by clever Italian crooks upon their countrymen.

He arrived at the North station from Montreal Monday and met two strangers, who told him that they were bound to sail by the same boat. The next step was to propose that the three place their money in one parcel for safety, the proposition being made by one of the strangers.

The victim was apparently given the package containing the money, but they had actually given him a dummy parcel.

USED REVOLVER

Man Was Shot in the Neck

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 28.—A shooting affray took place on Fleet street about 10:40 last night, when Harry Dunlap, aged 22, shot his brother-in-law, Howard Hersey.

Young Dunlap married a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hersey of Hanover street on July 3 of last year, but the couple did not live happily together and a separation had been reached between Dunlap and his brother-in-law and it was said at police headquarters last night that he had made several complaints of assault.

Last evening Dunlap met his mother-in-law and Howard Hersey on Fleet street near Locke's barber shop and words ensued. Howard Hersey, it is alleged, struck Dunlap in the face with such force as to knock out two teeth and draw the blood.

Dunlap drew a revolver and fired at Hersey, the shot entering the right side of the neck, making a bad flesh wound. He was taken to Beacham's stable office and later to the office of Dr. Geo. E. Pender. While the wound bled profusely, it is not expected to be of a serious nature.

Dunlap went to the police station and gave himself up to Capt. Marden, the officer in charge. When searched the revolver could not be found and he said he had taken it to his home.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SOCIETY FOR PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO CHILDREN

The 28th annual report of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children which has just been issued is the story of a busy year. Started originally by a group of citizens who determined to protect children from the cruel treatment of inhuman parents, the society while not neglecting its original functions has clearly enlarged its work to the needs of the present by striking at the root of juvenile delinquency, an alarming evil that saps the integrity of the young men upon whom our citizenship must rest.

The society is not satisfied to provide a child with a happy home; it seeks to make its work count for good citizenship. The training of a child deserves punishment, but there are many other forms of cruelty in our communities that wreck children's lives. Slow starvation, evil surroundings, neglected physical conditions of the body or of the home, immoral parents, all furnish the seed ground for juvenile delinquency that are a constant menace to our modern community life.

During the year 1908 the society was concerned with 6150 different children. Most of these could be helped to happier conditions in their own homes but 1906 of these children were living in such surroundings that nothing remained but removal through the court. By placing these in more wholesome surroundings many of them at least have been saved for better things.

On April 1st the society opened a new office in New Bedford and during the year it has also organized branches in Brockton and Northampton. It expects to help the neglected children of every town and city in Massachusetts by arousing local interest and by the appointment of local agents. For this extensive work the society expended upwards of $30,000 last year of which the public contributed $27,920.

Among the developments of the year were the successful extradition of two deserting husbands who had gone into other states to escape making provision for their wives and minor children, and the enactment at the instance of the society of more stringent non-support and neglect laws.

The officers of the previous year have been re-elected. Pres. Gratton D. Cushing; Treas. Charles F. Atkinson; secretary and general agent, C. C. Carstens.

LADIES In Justice To Yourselves

you ought to get strong. The world needs healthy, robust women. Every sick person is a drag not only upon herself but upon the whole community as well. Health is the all-important requirement. Therefore you owe it to the world to become healthy, active and strong.

Nature usually sends a warning of coming trouble—A Chill, a Headache, a Backache, a Pallor—some symptom to tell of the approach of a break-down. Do you heed these warnings? Do you know that an ounce of prevention is worth tons of cure? There is an infallible remedy right at hand which, if taken in time, will not only prevent disease from securing a foothold, but will so tone and strengthen the body as to make it immune against the many diseases which are at all times ready to assail it. Take which have for sixty years enjoyed the greatest of reputations as a family medicine, which old and young could take with perfect safety and feel secure in its efficiency. There is nothing like Beecham's Pills for the cleansing of the body, the strengthening of the muscles, the toning of the nerves and the stimulating of the blood. They will clear your brain, develop your powers, and fit you to take your proper place as wives and mothers.

PRESIDENT ELIOT

Paid Tribute to Oliver Wendell Holmes

CAMBRIDGE, April 28.—The small auditorium of Saunders theatre was crowded to overflowing last night by friends and admirers of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, whose 100th birthday anniversary was celebrated. Addresses in eulogy, reminiscences in praise and papers in demonstration of Dr. Holmes' qualities as poet, physician and citizen made up a program interspersed with music.

Following familiar introductions by President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university, himself an intimate friend of the honored poet, other friends of Dr. Holmes addressed the gathering. Among these were Dr. David Williams, Cheever of Boston, who was associated with Dr. Holmes in the laboratory; Edward Waldo Emerson of Concord, N. H., son of the poet Emerson, and a pupil of Dr. Holmes; Rev. Samuel Mc-

Chord Crothers of Cambridge; Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson of Cambridge, the noted author, and Prof. Charles T. Copeland of Harvard.

President Eliot's tribute in abstract follows:

"Dr. Holmes was cheerful, gay and animated, and always an excellent entertainer. We think of him as one who entertained and regarded this as his chief function—but there was an altogether different side to Dr. Holmes. His main interest in life was to teach anatomy and physiology at the Harvard Medical school, and that he considered his chief accomplishment.

"Dr. Holmes was a pioneer in the introduction of new instruments in the medical profession. He was one of the first to make use of the microscope. In this connection he was not only a pioneer, but also a prophet as this instrument today is probably the most used in laboratories."

Reminiscences and papers constituted the larger part of the program.

DRACUT

The hearing of remonstrants against the granting of a pool license to Michael J. Dinley at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Sladen street in the Navy Yard district, scheduled to take place in the town office in Dracut Centre last night, did not materialize owing to the request of Daniel J. Donahue, counsel for Mr. Dinley, that further specifications be furnished him.

The selectmen, before whom the hearing was to have been held, met shortly after 8 o'clock and Joseph F. Loughran, who represented several of the remonstrants, presented a letter from Mr. Donahue, asking for a bill of particulars. Mr. Loughran said that he was ready to go on with the hearing, but in view of the fact that his brother lawyer asked for further particulars he favored the postponement of the hearing until a later date.

It was decided to hold the hearing Friday night at the hose house in Sladen street, Dracut.

13 Inning Game at Fall River

FALL RIVER, April 28.—After Lowell had apparently won yesterday's game by scoring two runs in the 12th inning, two Fall River players crossed the bag in their half of that inning, and in the 13th still another Fall River player came home with the tally that decided the game, 4 to 3.

Ball's triple in the twelfth gave Lowell its two runs. The home side, Fall River, which tied the score 3 to 3, did not come until after two men were out. Three successive singles in the 13th resulted in Fall River's winning run. Howard fielded in sensational style.

FIRST SACKER DONOHUE OF THE WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, April 28.—Runners are now in circulation on Ban Johnson's American league circuit that "Jiggs" Donohue, first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, is to be sold or traded to the Washington club. It has been said that "Jiggs" has not been entirely satisfied with his berth in Chicago, and Manager Cantillon wants him to hold down first sack for the Washingtons. It is reported that President Conkley of the White Sox wants Pitcher Burns for his first baseman, but that Cantillon will not consider the Nationals' star southpaw in on the deal and has asked Conkley to fix a cash price on Donohue. Donohue was one of the chief individual factors in the capturing of the world's championship; in the fall of 1905, his holding being phenomenal and game saving, and his batting most timely. Donohue was born in Springfield, O. He played his first professional game in Marietta, O., in 1896, starting as a catcher. In 1900 he joined the Pittsburgh Nationals. He finished the season with Minneapolis, then went to Milwaukee in 1901. At the close of 1902 he was purchased by the White Sox management and joined them in 1904. He throws and bats left handed. Donohue has led the first sackers in the American league in fielding for the last three years.

BOXING GOSSIP

Word was received yesterday that Jack Johnson has decided to pay no further attention to Jeffries and will proceed to fight Jack O'Brien, Kaufman, Ketchel and even Sam Langford. Johnson is quoted as saying that Jeffries is bluffing and will never enter the ring again; that if Jeffries really intended to make a match he would sign articles and post the necessary forfeits without further delay or would at least agree verbally upon the exact date for a mill. Johnson has been scored so severely for dodging Sam Langford that he now says he intends to convince the sporting public that he is a real champion and that he will meet all his challengers in due time. Johnson has clinched a six round bout with Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, and will sell a few days later for England and France. While on the other side Johnson, according to his own statements, will be ready to make matches with the winner of a fight between Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette or with Ian Hogie, the new English heavyweight champion, provided the latter defeats Langford.

Johnson will take no notice of Sam McVey, Kid McCoy or Fitzsimmons, who are in Europe challenging the world, but he says that it is just possible he will meet Kaufman in a twenty round bout in Paris some time in July. Johnson says also that he has no idea of running out of his twenty round fight with Ketchel at Colma on Oct. 12, as he is fully convinced that he cannot induce Jeffries to sign articles before that time. Johnson has $5000 in cash as a guarantee that he will appear, but he does not want to forfeit this amount, particularly when he is confident that he can stop Ketchel and thereby take down the large end of a $10,000 gate. After he trims Ketchel, and the big negro says he'll do the trick to a moral certainty—Johnson states that if Jeffries is still backward about signing articles he will take on the veteran Jim Corbett in a fight to a finish or in a limited round affair.

Johnson, of course, assumes that he can beat all of these opponents and will have no trouble in retaining his present laurels. But pugilism, like baseball, is uncertain, and there's many a slip between the cup and the lip. Johnson's easy proposition, but Philadelphia Jack thinks that in six rounds he can make the big negro look like a selling plaster.

Johnson has no superior in point of speed for that short route, and if he can repeat the pace he set for six rounds in the recent bout with Ketchel it is believed that Johnson will have to extend himself to escape being outpointed. If Johnson is on the level in his statement relative to Langford, Jeannette and Hogie, it looks as if he will have to fight Langford in some sort of bout either in London or Paris before he returns here for the Ketchel mill. Kaufman has planned to be in France in July and will try to force Johnson to live up to his promise to make a match there. Should either Langford or Kaufman get a crack at Johnson on the other side of the Atlantic it is believed that the big negro would be extremely lucky to escape a defeat and that if his colors should be lowered the bout with Ketchel would lose much of its present interest. Getting down to cases, sporting men believe that having O'Brien, Johnson will not fight anybody until he stacks up against Ketchel, for he believes that the match with the Michigan Lion will have more money than any other bout that can be arranged for him except the battle with Jeffries, which may never materialize.

Ketchel says he hopes Johnson will keep away from the ring until Oct. 12 rolls around. The Michigan Lion, however, intends to take on Sam Langford for ten rounds at Los Angeles in July. Wilbur Brill has accepted the offer of a $10,000 guarantee, win, lose or draw, from Promoter McCreary, in behalf of Ketchel, and the latter has decided to leave for the coast about the middle of May. Joe Goodman, Langford's manager, has also accepted terms, and says that he will cut short his coming trip to Europe in order to get back in time for a mill that he has been trying to clinch for nearly a year. Ketchel said yesterday as he resumed light training near Woodlawn that he would surely defeat Langford under any fair conditions, and that a success of this kind would boom his chances for taking Johnson's measure.

BOWLING NEWS

Men Have Equal Chance in Tournament

J. F. Donohue of Lowell, president of the National Duck and Candelion Bowling congress, presided at the meeting of the board of directors of the organization at the Somerset alleys, Boston, yesterday afternoon. The business transacted was the passing on of the entries for the championships which will start next Tuesday at the Somerset alleys, Elliot street, Boston, and continue for the remainder of next week.

Something over 100 entries were received, a number equal to that received at the previous championships at the time the entry lists closed. The number is satisfactory considering the conditions of the tournament and the winners will receive 75 per cent of the gross entrance money.

Last year and the year before, the entry lists were reopened, but the proper start is being made this year, and it will not be long before the congress will have more entries than it has ever had before.

The entry list is a representative one and takes in all parts of New England. Springfield, Worcester, Lawrence, Lowell, Providence, New Bedford, Portland, and other cities have sent their best men for the championships, and as the Boston, Waltham, Murray & Wrentham, and other local bowling teams are in, as well as Imperial of Lynn, it will be a fair and square battle with one chance each between the best in this section of the country.

Last year with the returning it was a "big" fight for Boston, but this year the list shows a just win on their merits, and that is with one entry.

Many persons believed that the entry list would be reopened, but they missed their guess. The list closed with the first mail yesterday and there was no more to be added.

Assignments of men to pins will be made within a couple of days.

WON BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP
NEW YORK, April 28.—H. A. Wright of San Francisco last night won the National amateur billiard championship at the Madison Square Garden, defeating C. F. Conklin of Chicago by a score of 19 to 17.

change of program every Monday and Thursday. Performances are to be given continuously every afternoon from 7 to 9 o'clock and every evening from 7 to 10. The entire orchestra will be ten cents, gallery five cents and boxes reserved at 25 cents.

STAR THEATRE
Hundreds of people witnessed the amateur performance at the Star theatre last night and laughed at the antics of the young Thespians.

Entirely new motion pictures were shown today in addition to the two vaudeville acts, being presented by James Carson, blackface comedian, and Miss Lillian Leslie, acrobatic dancer. Pictures of Henri Benard, the Nasina mill hand, winner of the big Marathon race, are being shown. A new talking picture will be presented tomorrow. The admission of five cents entitles patrons to seats.

HATHAWAY THEATRE
The season of vaudeville at Hathaway's theatre closes Saturday of this week. For the closing week some unusually interesting variety acts are presented, prominent among them being the great dramatic sketch by Edwards Davis called "All Rivers Meet at the Sea." Mr. Davis and a carpenter company appear in the striking little piece. The story told concerns the love of two men for the same woman. It ends well.

It is a far cry from a straight dramatic sketch to an animal act, but the latter is good it cannot fail of appeal.

THEATRE LA SCALA
Today's exceptional show at the Theatre La Scala will be changed tomorrow and a complete new program given. Of the present bill the six pictures, all clever, interesting and of standard variety. "A Touch of Nature" and "The Gypsy's Warning," both tell fine dramatic stories and from every standpoint they are excellent pictures. "A Tale of War," like many other military pictures, is a big hit. "The Dairy Maid's Love" and "The Story of a Pair of Garters" are both novel comedies. Miss Tessier sings "Sweetheart's a Pretty Name When It Spells You," little piece. The story told concerns the love of two men for the same woman. It ends well.

THIS IS THE RIGHT WAY TO CURE CATARRH

Yes, dear reader, catarrh can be cured; but not by pouring vile drugs into the stomach.

You've got to kill the catarrh germs; that's all there is to it, before you can cure catarrh.

Hyomel (pronounced High-o-me) is a germ killing vapor or air which when breathed either through the mouth or nose will kill catarrh germs and soothe and heal the inflamed and mutilated membrane.

Hyomel is such a powerful germ destroyer that it penetrates every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. And it kills the catarrh germs because it gets where they are.

Hyomel is pleasant to use, it is made from concentrated extract of pine and eucalyptus taken from trees in inland Australia, where catarrh was never known.

Breathe in this pleasant healing yet germ killing air (you'll like it) Hyomel through a small hard rubber inhaler that comes with each outfit and relief will come quickly.

Hyomel is guaranteed by Carter & Sherburne to cure catarrh or money back; it gives most wonderful relief to consumptives. A complete outfit which includes an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomel and simple instructions for use costs $1.00, and extra bottles if afterward needed cost 50 cents. Leading druggists everywhere sell Hyomel.

Add catarrh germs thrive, flourish and multiply in the inner recesses of the nose and throat.

Can you kill these tough and persistent little health destroyers by swallowing pills or nostrum? It's a joke and those that would appreciate the joke would be the same little devilish germs if they only knew what you were trying to do.

The baseball season opened in Lowell this afternoon with Lowell and New Bedford of the New England league as the opposing teams. There were about 1200 people at Washington park when the game was called. A high wind blowing across the diamond made it anything but comfortable for the spectators.

Since last season the entrances have been enlarged and improved. It was expected that Mayor Brown would be on hand to toss the first ball over the plate, but owing to his presence at the police board hearing at city hall the honor of pitching the first ball fell to Purchasing Agent Peter A. MacKenzie.

There was one familiar face in the New Bedford lineup, it being that of big Pat Sullivan, who broke into the league in Lowell under Fred Lake. He is now playing first base for the Whalers.

Prior to the game Buck's best band paraded through the principal streets and during the game occupied seats in the grandstand, playing pleasing selections at various times during the game. Umpire Connolly was the decision maker, and at 3:15 o'clock called the game, the batting order of the players being as follows:

Lowell	New Bedford
Ball if	Barrows
Beauchamp 2b	Adler
Howard 3b	Cox
Wilson ss	Cunningham
Pickett rf	Sullivan
Cox lf	Ulrich
Campbell 3b	Moore
Boyle c
Whitridge p

THE MAYOR'S SPEECHES

Anthony J. Cunningham was the next witness. He testified as to speeches he had heard made by Mr. Brown when running for mayor.

He said the mayor said at a speech at Tower's corner: "If I am elected mayor you won't have to be an agent for the Harvard brewery and you won't have to deposit your money in one bank."

Asked by counsel for prosecution when he lived with, witness said: "With my wife."

Asked who he had talked to relative to appearing at the hearing as a witness, Mr. Cunningham said he had talked with Mr. Donohue. The latter was in the audience and advised the witness to go slow. "Don't let the cat out of the bag," he said—what ever that meant.

Mr. Cunningham gave a very excellent report of what Mr. Brown said on the night in question, so good that counsel for prosecution asked him if he was a newspaper reporter.

M. T. Senecal

Michael T. Senecal testified that he heard the mayor say that the police department was corrupt from top to bottom, that a number of the House of Representatives was a relative of a Harvard

Witness said the mayor told him to notify the superintendent that he would be down to take charge of the police department within an hour.

Witness said the mayor did not make good. He did not "come down and take charge of the department."

Telling of an interview that took place between himself and the mayor, the mayor having summoned him to the city hall, Mr. Welch said, the mayor said:

"You received a complaint about a team taken from Middlesex street last Wednesday evening."

"I said I had not heard anything about a stolen team."

"Do you mean to tell me that I am trumping up a charge?"

"No sir," I answered.

"You want to remember that I am mayor of this city now and you are my subordinate," he said and he added:

"Don't you get impudent."

"I do not want to be considered impudent," I replied.

"Don't get saucy with me," said the mayor.

No reply.

"Remember I am mayor of the city and you are my subordinate," reiterated the mayor.

The deputy also testified that the mayor said to him over the telephone that he (the mayor) "could not stand for Moffatt's officers going around brow-beating people and making fools of themselves."

Mayor Objects

The mayor at this point objected to his office being made a subject of inquiry. Mr. Bent said he had not taken any step to embarrass the mayor in any way except so far as the exigencies of the hearing required. He said he had been very cautious along that line, because that in his practice of the law he did not wish to embarrass anybody unnecessarily.

Supt. Moffatt Called

Supt. Wm. B. Moffatt was called and corroborated in substance what Deputy Welch said. Mr. Moffatt said that he received the mayor's message in which the mayor stated that he would come down to take charge of the police department.

Mr. Moffatt was sick at his home at the time, but he got up and dressed and went down to the police station. He patiently awaited the arrival of the mayor, but the mayor did not arrive.

Mr. Moffatt testified as to the conversation he had with Mr. Brown, the Gorham St. florist, who testified yesterday. He said that when he learned from Mr. Hayner that he had a new stand he told him he was at liberty to keep open on Sunday.

Moffatt's Denial

Asked by counsel for the prosecution if he had asked permission into his office and asked them how they were going to testify, Mr. Moffatt said now in session, Mr. Moffatt said, "No," very emphatically.

Mayor Called on Spotters

John F. Farrell, a clerk at the Bellevue hotel, said that a number of spotters, Knight, Nelson and Jenkins, stopped at the Bellevue hotel.

He said that Mayor Brown called at the hotel and talked with them. The mayor entered the hotel, walked the foot of Nelson and met them in an inside room.

Asked as to how he looked and to be a witness, Mr. Farrell said he was asked by John Pinder to testify as to his knowledge of the spotters, recalled their conversation with the mayor. He said Mr. Pinder asked him to testify.

Witness denied the story that he had seen the range at the police station was covered with mud. He said he was in the habit of washing his breakfast there.

TWO MEN ARRESTED

They Are Charged With Attempting to Extort $10,000

BOSTON, April 28.—Charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from Jas. S. Whittier of Sharon, Pa., under the threat that they would again kidnap his son, Willie Whittier, two men were brought to police headquarters today for an examination. The men who were arrested yesterday at the South End postoffice gave their names as John W. Wright and Ernest B. Martin. Wright said that he lived at an illicit street lodging house, while Martin said that his home was at Yempton place, Manchester.

The police claim that on April 23 Wright and Martin wrote a letter to Mr. Whittier, demanding that he send them $10,000 or else they would kidnap his little son Willie. The letter stated that the writers were four and that they had no regard for the life of the child, that he would only be the means of accomplishing their end.

From the general tone of the letter the police believed that a close watch at the South End post office might be profitable.

Yesterday afternoon two officers who were awaiting developments there saw Wright and Martin enter. Wright went to the delivery window and asked for mail while Martin waited near the door. As the men started to leave the post office they were arrested as suspicious characters and taken to the East Boston street police station where they spent the night. They were brought to headquarters this morning.

The police said today that a search of Martin's pockets resulted in finding a note similar to the one used in the letter to Mr. Whittier.

Wright is 30 years of age and Martin 26.

The letter was printed in red ink, apparently with rubber type on white paper and was mailed from the Dorchester central postoffice. It was as follows: "Dear Sir: Our society not having received the money for return of boy, voted to send the four men that had charge of all arrangements of getting boy and take him again in the night. This may mean death to the boy; it was voted to give you a chance to pay money. The black hand on receiving same will not trouble you. Not interested in the boy's best tools for our men. Send $10,000 in $5 bills and $5000 in $100 bills. Send it in three lots, have it here Monday morning. No trickery or it will go hard with the boy who's taken. Will send a man of steel for letters."

"Send Arthur Howard Brown, post station A, Boston, Mass."

After the arrest of the two men Martin told the police that he had met a man who told him he would give him $5000 if he would call at the South End postoffice, station A, and ask for a letter for Arthur Howard Brown.

CLERK TROWBRIDGE RESIGNS

Tucker, one of the assistants who had been twenty-five years in the office, was settled today by Judge Lowell of the court who obtained the resignation of Clerk A. H. Trowbridge and placed Miss Tucker in charge until July 1st when Gen. Charles K. Darling will become clerk.

INFANT MORTALITY

In Textile Cities Discussed by Episcopal Convention Today

BOSTON, April 28.—Regret that the Episcopal church has not taken a prominent part in the restriction of the liquor traffic was expressed by the committee on social progress and the state of the church in its report submitted to the 12th annual convention of the diocese of Massachusetts held in the parish house of Trinity church today. The committee expressed the opinion that there is no need for difference of opinion, however, much Christian men may differ as to the proper measures for reform.

It is regretted that in the great wave of successful antagonism to the saloon which has swept over America, churchmen (Episcopalians) have not taken a more conspicuous part and the church's prestige has suffered in consequence of an over-undue conservatism.

The committee also considered infant mortality in textile cities, this subject having been brought to its attention as a result of a high death rate among infants in Fall River. This report had been prepared for the committee by Prof. C. E. Winslow.

One of Prof. Winslow's conclusions is that so far as Fall River is concerned its high rate of infant mortality could be lessened by a better milk supply and by reorganizing the introduction of well-managed milk stations. For the state at large he recommended day nurseries, women visitors equipped with a general knowledge of the hygiene of infancy and a good milk station.

The convention was called to order by Bishop Lawrence at 9 o'clock followed by a celebration of the holy communion in the church. The sermon was by Rev. William Van Allen, rector of the church of the Ascension, Boston, and president of the Massachusetts Church union, Episcopal.

Following the church service the convention assembled and listened for members of the cathedral chapter and diocesan officers.

ATTACKED WIFE AND SON

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 28.—The police were called to the home of William Riedell, 22 Barr street, this morning and placed him under arrest. It is claimed that the man had been drinking heavily and was assaulting his wife, choking her when his son, Fritz, one of eight children, 19 years of age, interfered and caused his father to desist from his assault. The father then turned upon his son and seizing a large carving knife inflicted a severe wound on the boy's neck. A younger child gave the alarm and the man was arrested.

BIG CONVENTION

Cotton Manufacturers Opened Their Session in Boston

BOSTON, April 28.—More than $500,000 in textile interests was represented today when the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers opened its annual convention in Mechanics hall in this city today. The meeting was a notable assemblage of textile manufacturers present from nearly every state in the Union. This body is one of the strongest of its character in the world, and includes in its membership men affiliated with most of the leading textile manufacturing industries of the United States. The association is more than national in its scope, having over 1000 members distributed through all the cotton manufacturing districts of the United States and many in foreign countries. About half of its membership consists of persons primarily engaged in the financial side of cotton manufacturing and the remainder are identified with the technical end of the business. The mills represented by its members operate 20,000,000 spindles, 1700 sets of wool and worsted cards, 6000 knitting machines and 75 printing machines.

The convention was called to order late in the forenoon and the transaction of business immediately began. The reports of the different officers were then submitted and the association medal awarded. Gov. Eben S. Draper made an address welcoming the delegates to the state, and Franklin Hobbs spoke in response.

This year for the first time an exhibition of cotton machinery, mill supplies and general textile products is held as a supplementary feature of the convention.

The association has been invited to send delegates to the sixth international congress of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers, association, which will be held at Milan on May 18 and 19.

The hall was well filled when Secretary C. J. Woodbury opened the proceedings by submitting his annual report.

The association voted for the most useful contribution to the welfare of cotton manufacturing during the past year was awarded to James E. McCullough of Providence, treasurer of the Lomax Mfg. Co., for his services in establishing close relations with foreign manufacturers.

The visit of Gov. Draper, who fulfilled a similar mission last year, proved an interesting incident.

President Plunkett of Adams reviewed briefly the business of the industry during the year, during which he said there had been a returning tide of immigration, a great cotton crop and a growth in the industry both in this country and abroad. President Plunkett also dwelt with some emphasis upon the necessity of the preservation of the water power on the Atlantic watershed and stated that the board of government of the association has passed a resolution urging extensive improvements in transportation facilities and expressing the hope that legislative bodies should refrain from interfering with the development of such improvements.

GROCCERS' BANQUET DAMAGE IS $125,000

Successful Event Marked Close of Convention

Disastrous Fire Broke Out in Peabody This Morning

DAVID GEROW
President of the State Association

EDWARD S. FITZPATRICK
President of the Local Association

Rev. Fr. Ronan, Mayor Brown, Ex-Mayor Carter of Chelsea, and Prof. Molloy the Speakers

The twenty-eighth annual banquet of the Lowell Grocers and Butchers association was held last night in Odd Fellows temple, it being a fitting close to the fifth annual convention of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers and Provision Dealers association held during the afternoon.

BETTER NOT TAKE WHISKEY

The next time you have a sudden chill—you or any of the folks at home—don't bother with whiskey or waste time. Take quickly a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' Pinkettes in half a glass of hot water or milk. Its good record of 76 years proves reliability. At your druggist's. The new size is 25c or 50c a (larger) bottle. You ought to have it on hand.

The association made a new departure this year by inviting the ladies to attend the banquet and their presence had much to do with the success of the affair, and undoubtedly in the future banquets of the association the women will be found with the men gathered around the festive board.

There were about 250 ladies and gentlemen present and seated at the head table were President Edward Fitzpatrick of the Lowell Grocers and Butchers association, President David Gerow of PEABODY, April 23.—The manufacturing and tenement district of this town was seriously threatened by fire early today which completely burned one of the large buildings connected with the leather manufacturing plant of the A. H. Clark Mfg. Co., partly destroyed another, and rendered much damage to surrounding property, entailing an estimated loss of about $125,000. But for the rain which fell in torrents during the morning, and the concerted work of the fire departments of the National Calfskin Co., located across the street, and those of Peabody, Salem and Beverly, the whole district in the vicinity of Union street, where the Clark plant is located, would have been devastated.

The fire was discovered in the morning factory of the Clark plant by Watchman James Tivnan of the National Calfskin Co., shortly after 7 o'clock. By this time the flames were bursting through many parts of the building which was an old frame structure eight stories high and about 300 feet long, and when the local apparatus arrived the fire had spread to several of the twenty buildings which comprise the Clark plant and to the factories of the National Calfskin Co. A general alarm was immediately sounded and help summoned from Salem and Beverly, aided by the private apparatus of the National company, which did effective work with six powerful streams, the firemen devoted their efforts to subduing the incipient fires which started among the surrounding factories and tenement houses. Notwithstanding their efforts, however, the glove factory of the Clark company situated across the street was badly burned, about half the building being destroyed. The structure was of wood, seven stories high and about 250 feet long. The National Calfskin Co.'s buildings were also considerably damaged as well as several other buildings of the Clark plant and a few tenements. Both of the burned buildings were equipped with automatic sprinklers and fire alarms, but neither appeared to work. About 100 persons were employed at the morocco shop and 75 at the glove factory.

AMERICAN WOMEN REPORTED TO BE IN DANGER

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28.—The following telegram was received here today from Miss Rose Lambert, one of the besieged American women, missionaries at Hadjin.

"The Armenians are now showing white flags, indicating that there will be no further resistance, yet the shooting and the plundering continue. Many shops have been robbed and others undoubtedly will be."

JORDAN'S MOTHER

Says Prisoner Was Subject to Nervous Disorders

CAMBRIDGE, April 28.—When Chester S. Jordan entered the Middlesex county court room today for the continuation of his trial on the charge of murdering his wife, he was cheered by the presence of every member of his family. Today was the first time that all the members of the Jordan family had been together in the court room. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Jordan, the parents of the accused man; Elmer Jordan, a brother, and Mrs. Elmer Jordan; Mrs. Frederick Kendall, a sister and her husband and Mrs. Jesse Livermore of New York, wife of the well known cotton market operator. Mrs. Livermore is a sister of the prisoner. Mrs. Livermore was dressed in black and wore a thick black veil to the chagrin of the members of the camera battalion who were lined up in front of the court house.

When the court resumed its sessions today Mrs. Phineas Jordan, who was on the stand at adjournment yesterday, continued her testimony.

A long expected clash over the question of subjecting Jordan to an examination by alienists, developed shortly after the opening of the trial when the government asked that Jordan might be interviewed by specialists. The request was at first refused, but later counsel for the defense stated that it might be possible that two of the government's alienists would be allowed to examine the accused man with the understanding that their conclusions should not be used as evidence in the case. The court then suggested that the attorneys on both sides confer and if they came to an agreement that the examination should be made as soon as possible.

A few minor words from Mrs. Phineas Jordan regarding the early life of her son were drawn out by District Attorney Higgins. She said that Jordan was subjected to severe nervous disorders, "tantrums" she called them, that he had frequent bleedings from the nose and was not like other children. Jordan was very nervous when his sister Nettie, Mrs. Jesse Livermore, of New York, wife of the cotton broker, moved her mother on the stand. He moved meekly in his seat and did not look at her as she described his actions when a boy in Indianapolis and said he did not speak plainly and had a severe accident to his head caused by falling through a gate.

Additional evidence tending to show that Jordan was an extremely backward youth and subject to fits in early life was introduced through the testimony of his sister, Mrs. S. S. Kendall, of Somerville, his father, Phineas Jordan, Dr. Abbott of Indianapolis, and George E. Mills, also of that city. The latter saw Jordan in convulsions on a street in Indianapolis about fifteen years ago.

The fact that a cousin of the prisoner had made three attempts at suicide and finally succeeded in ending his life by hanging, was told by Mrs. Orr of Indianapolis, who was married to a nephew of Jordan's father, F. L. Brown, manager of the Pastime theatre, Boston, said that on June 22, 1908, while Jordan and his wife presented a vaudeville turn he noticed that Jordan was acting queer on the stage. He soon arose, however, and staggered to a table against which he supported himself, talking unintelligibly. According to the witness, Jordan's face was ghastly in his pailor; his eyes protruded from his head and appeared to be flaming and he was frothing at the mouth. Brown pulled him off the stage.

Other testimony which tended to show that Jordan suffered from terrible headaches and acted in a peculiar manner, was given by Mrs. Mary Steadman, who married for a while in the Jordan home and by John N. Shute, a Boston contractor with whom Jordan had had business dealings.

WANTS AN INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, April 28.—When the discussion of the tariff was resumed in the senate today Mr. Brown, of Nebraska, spoke of his amendment recently introduced providing for a constitutional amendment in favor of an income tax. He argued that the people of the several states should have the opportunity to vote on the question in order that the validity of such a law never would be questioned.

"We owe this to the people," he said, "because there has long been an earnest and determined demand for an equitable income tax."

They had, he declared, accepted the decree of the court and had become resigned to the fact that such a law was unconstitutional but he claimed that congress owed to them to be given a chance to say whether the constitution should be made to sanction a system of taxation approved by the majority of American citizens and by the economists of the entire civilized world.

THE HEARING

Continued

Yesterday's Closing

John C. King of the Park hotel, in addition to what was published yesterday, said that the mayor's purpose in calling the hotel men was to find out from each man as to whether there was any difference in the conduct of their business since his election as mayor.

Mr. King said that at the conference he called attention to the decision in the Regan case, and that the mayor agreed the decision was favorable to the hotel men; that the supreme court of Massachusetts had said that the law should be construed in a reasonable manner.

The mayor asked Mr. King if the commissioners ever visited his place on Sunday. The witness replied that they did.

The mayor then asked the witness if what the mayor really said at that conference was not that if a man were a legitimate guest and ordered food, he was entitled to be served with one or more drinks so long as he was not intoxicated.

Mr. King thought that was true, up to the point where he asked the mayor's secretary to get the decision in the Regan case. Then they all read it carefully, and the mayor agreed with him—that a dictionary had been procured—that the definition of the word "resort" justified the hotel men in having 20 or 30 people at their places on Sundays and holidays.

The mayor asked the witness if there was not a rumor on the street of a complaint that the hotel men were being persecuted, on account of Brown's election, and if that was not the substance of what was meant, when the mayor spoke of a complaint.

Mr. Burke objected, on the ground that rumors were not admissible. The mayor said he would eliminate that, and asked whether or not these men stated, at the hearing, that they were being persecuted because of Brown's election; and that then the mayor said, "If that is so, you may get up a petition."

Mr. King did not think that the mayor's name was connected with any such statement, but something was said about the conduct of the police board toward them being persecution, instead of prosecution.

Robert C. Paradis of the Courier-Citizen staff identified his report of a meeting of the committee on appropriations, held at the Regan case, at which meeting the mayor said that the police department was in a state of demoralization, that the liquor squad was going to be abolished, that the department was in a state of demoralization, "from the chairman of the police board down."

Robert M. Blood, also of the Courier-Citizen staff, identified his report of two of Candidate Brown's speeches of Nov. 22, 1908. In this speech, Mr. Brown said, "there is no promotion for an honest man in the police department."

The witness said that he read that in any other paper, and he replied that he read it in the Boston Herald, and that the words quoted, "there is no promotion in the police department for an honest man," were used in the Herald also. He understood, he said, that the Boston Herald correspondent was Mr. MacBryne, the mayor's secretary.

Warren M. Powers, reporter on The Sun staff, identified his write-up of the meeting of the committee on appropriations, previously testified to by Mr. Paradis. He quoted Mayor Brown as referring to the lack of brains at the head of the police department, "from the chairman down."

At this point Mr. Bent, who is counsel for the chairman, turned and looked facetiously at his client. Chairman Stearns gravely rose and bowed politely, in the direction of Mr. Bent. Miss Wells of the Courier-Citizen staff identified two reports of speeches taken by her during Mr. Brown's campaign, and testified that they were reported in shorthand and correct in their statements.

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the two following letters for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by female diseases.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I have been a great sufferer with a constant pain in my back. I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it, and the pain has disappeared. I feel like a new woman since that awful pain has gone, and may God bless the discoverer of that great and wonderful remedy!"—Mrs. Peter Gaffney, 548 Marcy Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world about it."

"I suffered from female troubles and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I am ready to tell every one what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. Emma Inse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you what it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for female ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

LATEST OFFICIAL DECISION

Authorizing Deposition of the Sultan Made Public

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28.—The news, or official decision of the shirk-ul-Islam, authorizing the deposition of Abdul Hamid, has been made public. It embraces the questions put by parliament to the shirk-ul-Islam and his answer thereto. The text follows:

"What becomes of an Imam (the title of the sultan of Turkey as head of the Orthodox faith) who has destroyed certain holy writings, who has seized property in contravention to the shirk laws, who has committed cruelties in ordering the assassination and imprisonment of exiles without any justification under the shirk laws, who has squandered the public money, who, having sworn to govern according to the shirk, has violated his oath, who, by gifts of money, has provoked inter-naline bloodshed and civil war and who no longer is recognized in the provinces?"

To this the shirk-ul-Islam replied: "He must abdicate or be deposed."

Not one of the Constantinople newspapers has a good word for Abdul Hamid, whose life and reign are being held up to universal execration. On the other hand, the accession of Mehmed V is regarded as the dawn of a new era.

In order to enable the public to indulge in rejoicings there has been ordered a temporary suspension of the state of siege until 40 o'clock tonight. The city will be illuminated but fireworks have been prohibited.

The cabinet has been requested to remain in office for some days longer.

ARMED ANARCHIST

Went to Monte Carlo to Kill Pres. Fallieres

MONTE CARLO, April 28.—A man named Verdier, who was arrested here today by the French police declared that he was an anarchist and that he had come to Monaco for the purpose of killing President Fallieres of France, who is at present visiting here.

A revolver loaded with jacketed bullets was found on Verdier as well as a letter addressed to the prefect of the

This simple civil ceremony was performed in person by Roger Allon, the mayor. Only a few of the immediate members of the families of the bride and groom were present. Countess Scherr-Thoss, the groom's mother, was not present on account of ill health. Following the ceremony the mayor delivered a brief address in which he expressed his good wishes for the pair and referred to the distinguished career of the bride's father and the ties uniting France and the United States.

The wedding presents which have come from America, Germany, France and Italy, were displayed at the embassy this afternoon.

THE LATE JOSHUA DANIELS

JOSHUA DANIELS

Sage of Tewksbury Passed Away

Joshua Wentworth Daniels, the eccentric sage of Tewksbury, died yesterday at the Danvers asylum, where he was committed about a year ago, after a brief attack of pneumonia.

The deceased for many years was a familiar figure in Lowell and Tewksbury and his mental decline a year ago or more caused much regret among the many who knew and admired the redoubtable old gentleman.

Mr. Daniels was 87 years, 4 months and 14 days old, and before beginning life as a farmer had been a successful manufacturer. For many years he was an active member of the Middlesex North Agricultural society, and a Tewksbury town meeting would not be complete in the old days without him, for he never missed a discussion on any subject of importance in town affairs and was decidedly frank in all his remarks. He is survived by a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Florence E. Pierce, and a granddaughter, Miss Margaret D.

Pierce. The remains were brought to this city by Undertaker John A. Weinbeck.

FUNERALS

MARTIN—The funeral of the late Timothy Martin took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from his home, 4 rear of 158 Adams street and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where, at nine o'clock a mass of requiem was sung, Rev. Fr. Curtin officiating. The choir under the direction of Michael J. Johnson sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Pie Jesu" was rendered and at the conclusion the choir sang the De Profundis. Mr. Johnson presided at the organ. The bearers were John Regan, William Downing, Daniel Lyons, and Daniel Rock. At the grave Rev. Fr. Curtin read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

ZINCK—The funeral of Walter Zinck took place yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the home of his parents, Charles and Catherine Zinck, 3 rear of 137 Charles street. Funeral services were held at the residence, Rev. Geo. C. Wright officiating. Burial was in the Edison cemetery. Rev. Mr. Wright read the prayers at the grave. Arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons.

FOR NEW FACTORY

J. J. Doherty Purchases Property in Hale Street

Mr. John J. Doherty, the well known mattress manufacturer, is soon to abandon his Congress street plant and start a new factory at the corner of Hale and Thorndike streets.

For this purpose he has purchased the Joseph Green estate of about 15,000 square feet of land on which there is a three-story building. This building has about 30,000 feet of floor space and was formerly used as a rug factory. The deeds were passed today through the real estate agency of Thomas H. Elliott.

Mr. Doherty will put in new machinery for the manufacture of silk dress and felt mattress. He will build it out to the street line and will have a warehouse in front on the ground floor. Mr. Doherty intends to extend his business throughout New England and will have agents on the road to present the merits of his stock to the trade.

CHANGE OF NAME

The Andover Conference Took Action

The Andover conference held its spring meeting at the Highland Congregational church, yesterday afternoon and evening with a large attendance of delegates.

The principal feature of the business was the report of the special committee appointed last year relative to greater democracy in church affairs. The committee reported favorably and, after considerable debate, it was voted to change the constitution of the Andover conference. Incidentally, its official name—so that laymen should be members of the ministerial board hereafter.

The session was called to order at 2:30 o'clock, with Asa C. Russell as moderator. Rev. Owen H. Gates was the secretary. For 15 minutes, devotional services were held, led by Rev. Thomas A. Carlson of Dracut.

The business session opened at 2:45 o'clock. The records of the last session were read, and under the head of new business a business committee was appointed by the moderator. It was made up of Rev. A. C. Ferrin, Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, and Rev. George E. Lowrey of the South church, Lowell. On motion of Rev. Mr. Willmott, these were elected.

Reports of standing committees were then heard. Rev. E. A. Wilson, of the Free Christian church, Andover, reported for "Work of the Churches."

Rev. A. F. Dannels, of the Highland church, reported on "Systematic Giving." He spoke of the appointment plan recently advanced, at a meeting of the campaign in the interests of the seven missionary societies of the church. He reported the appointment of the churches as follows:

Andover, South church, $1000; West church, $300; Free Christian church, $600; and Harvard, $300. Chelmsford, second church (North), $250; Central church, $225; Dracut, First church, $224; Central church, $230; Lawrence, Lawrence Street church, $900; South church, $360; Riverside church, $240; Trinity church, $340; and United church, $600. Pay-tucket church, $600; First church, $1250; Trinity church, $1250; First church, $980; Kirk Street church, $380; First church, $1100; Highland church, $830; and South church, $1100. First church, $330; North Andover, $1100; and First church, $1100. First church, $330; and First church, $1100.

Rev. E. A. Hudson, of North Chelmsford, reported on "Statistics." Of the 27 churches in the conference four are without pastors, he said. The total membership is 7122. The resident membership is 5610, the largest in many years. Almost 20 per cent. are new members. In four churches there have been no additions to the membership. In 12 there have been gains, and in 12 there have been losses.

Rev. W. E. Wolcott, of Lawrence, then made the report of the special committee appointed last fall.

He said that the conference covers two large prosperous manufacturing cities. All committees have been spreading out. It ought to be a part of the work of the conference, he said, to locate places of worship in the new communities. In the last decade, notwithstanding the increase in the size of cities and towns, there has been no new Congregational church established in this conference. In the last 40 years but four new churches have been established, and two of those were simply reorganized. What's the trouble?

asked Rev. Mr. Wolcott. "The Congregational church has been shouting independence of the local church so long that it has lost sight of the fact that the church is a part of the whole."

He then read the report of the committee to the effect that the name of the conference be changed to the Andover Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers, that the association assume charge of such ministers as are without churches, and that the committee be authorized to appoint a committee to consist of three clergymen and three laymen, one of each to retire annually. The matter of all cases of imposing discipline or granting licenses must come before the council of the church for action. The reports were accepted. The matter of accepting changes in the constitution was then before the conference, and, after each article had been discussed, it was voted to adopt the changes. The afternoon session adjourned shortly before 6 o'clock.

Evening Session

"At the opening of the evening service a collection was taken up for the ministerial relief association. Rev. John L. Keedy conducted the opening devotional service."

The first topic for discussion was "The Civic Opportunity of the Church," and the speakers were Rev. George F. Kennett and Frederick H. Jones of Andover. The last address was on "The Church and the World's Civilization."

SHOE SHOP BALL

Federal Employees Held Merry Party

Associate hall never looked more attractive than it did last evening at the second annual ball of the Federal Shoe company, for the decorations were both lavish and artistic.

The platform was enclosed within a proscenium arch of artificial flowers and electric lights while the orchestra was on a lowered amid stately tropical plants. From the chandelier in the center streamers of pink and white extended to all corners of the hall, while suspended from the central point was a huge basket of artificial flowers under which hung a great cluster of violets. The balcony rail and the windows were also adorned.

There was no grand march, but a delightful concert program was given by the Federal orchestra of 10 pieces, Joseph Frederic, musical director, and Frank J. Deignan, concert master.

A number of 24 numbers were thoroughly enjoyed, the usual extras being included and it was after midnight when the pleasant affair came to a conclusion. Among the guests present were Mayor Brown and all the foremen at Phillips shoe shop and the following from out-of-town:

Henry Demaine, Miss Pauline Murphy, Miss Della Demaine, Miss Lena Gauthier and Miss Blanche Dossier, all of Nashua, N. H.; Miss Blanche Morell, of Haverhill; Joseph Longmore, J. H. Russell and Mr. White, all of Stoughton.

Today was "milk day" in police court, the greater part of the morning's session being devoted to the hearing of three milk cases brought at the instigation of the state board of health and a third brought through the office of the local inspector of milk.

Several days ago James S. Byam, a milk dealer of Chelmsford, was brought before the court, it being alleged that he had milk below the standard in his possession. He informed the officials that the milk had been purchased from Arthur E. Dutton of Chelmsford and after getting this information one of the state inspectors took samples of milk from cans in the possession of Mr. Dutton, and it is alleged that three of the samples were below the standard.

Mr. Dutton entered a plea of not guilty through his counsel, William H. Wilson.

Horace F. Davis, inspector of the state board of health, testified to taking eight samples from milk in the possession of Mr. Dutton and Herman Lytkson, state analyst, said that three of the samples were below the standard, while five were above. The eight samples taken together showed an average of 12.22 per cent solids, which is 14 per cent above the requirement by law and 3.57 per cent fat.

Mr. Dutton said that the milk which he had in his possession had not been mixed, but he knew that Mr. Byam, to whom he had sold milk, mixed it.

The court found Mr. Dutton guilty and imposed a fine of $15. An appeal was taken and the defendant was held under $200 for his appearance before the superior court.

Byam Discharged

The case of James S. Byam, which had been brought at the instigation of the local milk authorities, was then taken up. It was shown that Mr. Byam has a mixer on his premises and mixes all the milk with the exception of that sold at wholesale. He said that he purchased his milk from Mr. Dutton and had told the latter that the milk should be mixed before being turned over to him.

Milk Inspector Turner of this city informed the court that he was satisfied that Mr. Byam got his milk from Mr. Dutton and was willing to accept a plea of not guilty.

Mr. Byam was then discharged.

Heavy Fine Imposed

Edward C. Wright was charged with having milk below the standard and a fine of $15 was imposed. During the course of the testimony it was shown that one of the inspectors, Maurice P. Crowe, had taken three samples from one of the wagons belonging to the defendant and an analysis of the samples showed that they were below the standard. Wright was found guilty on the charge of having milk below the standard and a fine of $15 was imposed. He appealed.

James Stuart Murray, counsel for Mr. Wright, did not think that the court's decision was in keeping with the testimony offered and said that he would appeal.

The charge of having sold milk in the city (Wright's) was not sustained.

Today was "milk day" in police court, the greater part of the morning's session being devoted to the hearing of three milk cases brought at the instigation of the state board of health and a third brought through the office of the local inspector of milk.

Several days ago James S. Byam, a milk dealer of Chelmsford, was brought before the court, it being alleged that he had milk below the standard in his possession. He informed the officials that the milk had been purchased from Arthur E. Dutton of Chelmsford and after getting this information one of the state inspectors took samples of milk from cans in the possession of Mr. Dutton, and it is alleged that three of the samples were below the standard.

Mr. Dutton entered a plea of not guilty through his counsel, William H. Wilson.

Horace F. Davis, inspector of the state board of health, testified to taking eight samples from milk in the possession of Mr. Dutton and Herman Lytkson, state analyst, said that three of the samples were below the standard, while five were above. The eight samples taken together showed an average of 12.22 per cent solids, which is 14 per cent above the requirement by law and 3.57 per cent fat.

Mr. Dutton said that the milk which he had in his possession had not been mixed, but he knew that Mr. Byam, to whom he had sold milk, mixed it.

The court found Mr. Dutton guilty and imposed a fine of $15. An appeal was taken and the defendant was held under $200 for his appearance before the superior court.

Byam Discharged

The case of James S. Byam, which had been brought at the instigation of the local milk authorities, was then taken up. It was shown that Mr. Byam has a mixer on his premises and mixes all the milk with the exception of that sold at wholesale. He said that he purchased his milk from Mr. Dutton and had told the latter that the milk should be mixed before being turned over to him.

Milk Inspector Turner of this city informed the court that he was satisfied that Mr. Byam got his milk from Mr. Dutton and was willing to accept a plea of not guilty.

Mr. Byam was then discharged.

Heavy Fine Imposed

Edward C. Wright was charged with having milk below the standard and a fine of $15 was imposed. During the course of the testimony it was shown that one of the inspectors, Maurice P. Crowe, had taken three samples from one of the wagons belonging to the defendant and an analysis of the samples showed that they were below the standard. Wright was found guilty on the charge of having milk below the standard and a fine of $15 was imposed. He appealed.

James Stuart Murray, counsel for Mr. Wright, did not think that the court's decision was in keeping with the testimony offered and said that he would appeal.

The charge of having sold milk in the city (Wright's) was not sustained.

HOTEL LICENSES

Eleven Were Granted by the Board of Police Last Night

The Merrimac House License Granted to Cooney & Co.—The Barrows License Granted in His New Building—Douglass License Held Up

The board of police at its regular meeting last night granted 11 hotel licenses. All of the present locations were renewed but the Merrimac House has new proprietors. The application of Frederick W. Barrows & Co. for a first and fourth class license, which was held up when the other first and fourth class licenses were granted recently, was granted at last night's meeting, the board giving the applicants permission to locate in their new building in Davis square. The only application which is now pending is that of John H. Douglass & Co., corner of South and Summer streets. While there were originally two applications for licenses at the Park hotel, one having been made by Lucien Turcotte and the other by John C. King, who has conducted the hotel during the year, prior to the granting of the license, Mr. Turcotte withdrew his application and the license was granted to Mr. King.

The original applicants for the license at the Merrimac House were Eugene H. Vion and Victor Roberts, but a week or more ago Messrs. Vion and Roberts withdrew their application and the license was granted to Cooney & Co. Frederick W. Barrows and William H. Barrows filed two applications, one for a location in their new building in Davis square and another at the corner of Gorham and Chambers streets where they are now located. There was considerable remonstrance on the part of the residents and property owners in the vicinity of Davis square, who objected to the granting of a license in the square. A hearing was given the remonstrants with the result that they were given leave to withdraw on their petition. The only license that is held up at the present time is that of John H. Douglass & Co., and in all probability action will not be taken on it until after a case of illegal keeping against

Mr. Douglass is passed upon by the court. The following is a list of the hotel licenses granted: Cooney & Co., Merrimac hotel, 361-319-312 Merrimack and 123-125-129 Dutton streets. Owen J. Carney, Waverly hotel, 20-22-24 Market street and 1-3-5 Market house place. Edward T. Cushing, Richardson hotel, 415-419-421-423 Middlesex street, 25-27-29 Thordike street and 8 Brewery court. Charles M. Dickey, Foster S. Thurlow, New American hotel, 130-136 Central and 15 Warren streets. Henry W. Garrity, Theresa A. Garrity, 604 Washington Tavern, 286-288-292-294 Central and 6-8-10 Church streets. Martha W. Halligan, Arlington hotel, 193-195-201-203 Central and 5 Hurd streets. Thomas F. Hoban, Lowell inn, 10-21 Central street and City avenue. John C. King, Park hotel, 5-7-9 City Hall avenue, 155-157 1-2 Middle street. Hugh E. Mellen, St. Charles hotel, 25-27-29 Middlesex street. LOST HIS GOLD

"HANDKERCHIEF GAME" WAS WORKED ON MAN BOSTON, April 25.—The police learned yesterday of the loss of 19 gold sovereigns from James Heggie, who was bound for Scotland on the Hesperian yesterday. He was the victim of the well known "handkerchief game," which is usually worked by clever Italian crooks upon their countrymen. He arrived at the North station from Montreal Monday and met two strangers who told him that they were bound to sail by the same boat. The next step was to propose that the three place their money in one parcel for safety, the proposition being made by one of the strangers. The victim was apparently given the package containing the money, but they had actually given him a dummy parcel.

USED REVOLVER

Man Was Shot in the Neck

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 28.—A shooting affray took place on Fleet street about 10:40 last night, when Harry Dunlap, aged 22, shot his brother-in-law, Howard Hersey. Young Dunlap married a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hersey of Hanover street on July 3 of last year, but the couple did not live happily together and a separation took place. Since that time there have been several clashes between Dunlap and his brother-in-law and it was said at police headquarters last night that he had made several complaints of assault. Last evening Dunlap met his mother-in-law and Howard Hersey on Fleet street near Locke's barber shop and words ensued. Howard Hersey, it is alleged, struck Dunlap in the face with such force as to knock out two teeth and draw the blood. Dunlap drew a revolver and fired at Hersey, the shot entering the right side of the neck, making a bad flesh wound. He was taken to Beacham's stable office and later to the office of Dr. Geo. E. Peabody. While the wound bled profusely, it is not expected to be of a serious nature. Dunlap went to the police station and gave himself up to Capt. Marden, the officer in charge. When searched the revolver could not be found and he said he had taken it to his home.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF SOCIETY FOR PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO CHILDREN The 28th annual report of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children which has just been issued is the story of a busy year. Started originally by a group of citizens who determined to protect children from the cruel treatment of inhuman parents, the society while not neglecting its original functions has gradually adapted its work to the needs of the present by striking at the root of juvenile delinquency, an alarming evil that saps the integrity of the young men upon whom our citizenship must rest.

The society is not satisfied to provide a child with a happy home; it seeks to make its work count for good citizenship. The inhuman beating of a child deserves punishment but there are many other forms of cruelty to our communities that wreck children's lives. Slow starvation, evil surroundings, neglected physical conditions of the body or of the home, immoral parents, all furnish the seed ground for juvenile delinquency, that are a constant menace to our modern community life.

During the year 1908 the society was concerned with 6180 different children. Most of these could be helped to happier conditions in their own homes but 1965 of these children were living in such surroundings that nothing remained but removal through the court. By placing these in more wholesome surroundings many of them at least have been saved for better things.

On April 1st the society opened a new office in New Bedford and during the year it has also organized branches in Brockton and Northampton. It expects to help the neglected children of every town and city in Massachusetts by arousing local interest and by the appointment of local agents. For extensive work the society expended upwards of $80,000 last year of which the public contributed $27,000. Among the developments of the year were the successful extradition of two deserting husbands who had gone into other states to escape making provision for their wives and minor children, and the enactment at the instance of the society of more stringent non-support and neglect laws.

The officers of the previous year have been re-elected: Pres. Gratton D. Cushing; Treas. Charles F. Atkinson; secretary and general agent, C. C. Carstens.

PRESIDENT ELIOT

Paid Tribute to Oliver Wendell Holmes

CAMBRIDGE, April 28.—The small auditorium of Saunders theatre was crowded to overflowing last night by friends and admirers of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, whose 100th birthday anniversary was celebrated. Addresses in eulogy, reminiscences in praise and papers in demonstration of Dr. Holmes' qualities as poet, physician and citizen made up a program interspersed with music.

Following familiar introductions by President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university, himself an intimate friend of the honored poet, other friends of Dr. Holmes addressed the gathering. Among these were Dr. David Williams, Cheever of Boston, who was associated with Dr. Holmes in the laboratory; Edward Waldo Emerson of Concord, N. H., son of the poet Emerson, and a pupil of Dr. Holmes; Rev. Samuel Mc-

Chord Crothers of Cambridge; Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson of Cambridge, the noted author, and Prof. Charles T. Copeland of Harvard.

President Eliot's tribute in abstract follows:

"Dr. Holmes was cheerful, gay and animated, and always an excellent entertainer. We think of him as one who entertained and regarded this as his chief function—but there was an altogether different side to Dr. Holmes. His main interest in life was to teach anatomy and physiology at the Harvard Medical school, and that he considered his chief accomplishment."

"Dr. Holmes was a pioneer in the introduction of new instruments in the medical profession. He was one of the first to make use of the microscope. In this connection he was not only a pioneer, but also a prophet as this instrument today is probably the most used in laboratories."

Reminiscences and papers constituted the larger part of the program.

DRACUT

The hearing of remonstrants against the granting of a pool license to Michael J. Dinley at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Sladen street in the Navy Yard district, scheduled to take place in the town office in Dracut Center last night, did not materialize owing to the request of Daniel J. Donahue, counsel for Mr. Dinley, that further specifications be furnished him.

The selection, before whom the hearing was to have been held, met shortly after 8 o'clock and Joseph F. Loughran, who represented several of the remonstrants, presented a letter from Mr. Donahue, asking for a bill of particulars. Mr. Loughran said that he was ready to go on with the hearing, but in view of the fact that his brother lawyer asked for further particulars he favored the postponement of the hearing until a later date.

It was decided to hold the hearing Friday night at the hose house in Sladen street, Dracut.

WILBUR WRIGHT EXPLAINING MACHINERY TO KING ALFONSO

COPYRIGHT, 1909 BY
THE ILLUSTRATION BUREAU

KING EDWARD VISITS THE WRIGHTS AT PAU

The Wrights are entitled to all the honors they are receiving, and more. It will require future ages to fill the due measure of their fame. Whatever they have accomplished has been by their own efforts. The first attempts previously made to navigate heavier than air machines were of little help to them. They had to test every step of the way by practical experiment. They had to learn to fly by flying. After the wonder is accomplished, it looks comparatively simple, but it was anything but simple in the trying out stages. The chief difficulties were an mechanical, but scientific. The great problem was that of balance, the overcoming of air currents. Here they had nothing to guide them and were compelled to build up a science of air resistances, to model and remodel motor and propellers, rudders and wings, to learn the details of gliding flight and to perfect their machines until equal to all demands. One of the great secrets of their success is a contrivance for shifting the nuclei of their planes as does a soaring bird. Contrary to general belief, however, they gained no ideas from birds until they themselves had flown. Then they could see the reasons for the misnomers of the feathered folk and gained valuable hints. One does not learn to ride a bicycle by watching some one else do it, but once having done the trick the methods of another become intelligible.

All Europe, looking on

Now that the Wrights have promised to fly in Rome and England who, through with their experiments in France and have conspired later, do a little stalling for the Asker, in seem in a fair way to make rubber necks of all Europe. In time the ship back across the sea as familiar as the automobile. And when the use of aviation is again extended to sports millions will take to aeroplanes and racing cars there will not be much danger to pedestrians. A ship can hardly run over a man on the ground, though it might foul him. We shall then have to enact new set of laws requiring aeroplanes before they tumble to blow a horn otherwise warn those underneath. These happy days it may be necessary

The greatest change inaugurated by the aerial age will be in the matter of tariff and war. Custom houses will be of little avail against airships that can carry cargoes of goods over national boundaries and light at any desired point. Smuggling will become so easy that universal free trade will result as a matter of necessity. Thus while Chairman Payne and his fellow laborers are putting through a fearful and wonderful revenue bill that some people say will reduce duties and others just as stoutly assert will raise duties the Wright brothers are perfecting a machine that will fly over all tariff walls, even though they are as high as the clouds. It is hardly probable that this pleasing prospect will cause any cessation of activities on the part of the outraged women who are fighting the stocking tax, and it is probably too remote to affect the iron and steel schedules, but those of us who live long enough may yet hope to see aviation get the better of taxation. In that day our redemption will come literally from the skies; our salvation will be from above; the airship will come with healing in its wings.

Will Bring Universal Peace.

The age of universal peace will be another result of the aeroplane. With a fleet that can ignore both armies and navies, fly above all forts, spy out all movements, drop explosives out of the clouds, destroy cities by dynamite heaved over as ballast, war will become so destructive that it will destroy itself. Already the nations are recognizing the startling possibilities and are buying craft with which to organize navies of the air. The United States has acquired Captain Thomas S. Baldwin's dirigible balloon and was ready to purchase Orville Wright's aeroplane when it was wrecked in the disaster at Fort Myer, killing Lieutenant Selfridge and seriously injuring Wright himself. As soon as the brothers return from their triumphs abroad, however, they are to resume experiments at Fort Myer, and the purchases will be consummated. Stimulated by Wilbur Wright's successful flights at Le Mans and Paris, the French government is taking an even keener interest in aeroplanes and is preparing to use the science for military purposes. The German army has its airship corps and the same thing is practically true of every civilized nation. Townsend's prophecies in "Locksley Hall" written as prophecy of a distant event, are being made true almost before the poet could in his grave.

For I looked into the future far as Saw the vision of the world and all the wonder that would be;
Saw the heavens fill with commerce,
a series of bright
Pict'—a series of bright down with costly tales;
Heard the heavens fill with shouting,
a series of bright
From the million's tiny voices gathering in the central noise;
Far above the maddest whisper of t
about the wind rushing woom.
With the standards of the peoples plun
ing through the thunderstorm;

Till the war drums throbbed no longer and the battleflags were furled
 In the parliament of man, the federation of the world.

We do not properly measure the importance of the event. The future will doubtless class it as the greatest accomplishment of all the marvelous things done in this age of invention. What revolutions it will work in transportation and in human affairs generally can now only be dimly surmised. The overwhelming fact is that the thing of which men have dreamed through the ages has been achieved. The cause has been set in motion. The future will be told, and the effects of it will form the bliss mankind as long as the world lasts.

The First Automobile.
Most of us can remember when the automobile was a novelty. The writer is under forty, yet recalls the time when the first "horseless wagon" was used, and it was only about a score of years ago. It was in Wheeling, W. Va., that I first beheld the monster. The machine was a big, clumsy affair, with large wheels, uncertain steering apparatus and was run by a very noisy steam engine. This was so great a failure that it was some years before another crossed my field of vision. Now they are as common as millionaires.

If the automobile could be so vastly improved in so short a time, who can predict what may occur in the field of aerial navigation now that the principle has actually been discovered and is before the world? Is it not possible that it will revolutionize human affairs in as radical a way as did the discovery of the use of steam?

In all this stupendous change going on before our very eyes the Wright brothers are the chief magicians. They are the makers and pioneers, even aeroplane inventor in the world having acknowledged their superiority. Noel Holmström and other French experts who have made most progress in better than air machines admit that they got many of their ideas from the quick Ohio men.

The Wright brothers have made a monoplane that will carry two men in a sitting posture, will run at about any speed up to fifty miles an hour and will go in any direction at any desired height above the ground. Not only so, but they have perfected the invention to a point where it can be run, turned and placed on the market. Their first object is to sell it to governments that will use it and to develop it for war purposes, after which they will, doubtless, perfect it for commercial uses. They do not predict that it will supplant the railroad or steamboat and say that its greatest benefit will be military. But with

The Wright brothers' aeroplane has been described as looking like a street car with the sides and ends knocked out, leaving only the top and floor with frill uprights holding them together. The machine sails sidewise, with its great planes, which are about forty feet long, extended like the wings of a bird. There are double rudders, a horizontal one in front to regulate elevation and vertical ones behind to determine direction. There are two screw propellers, one to lift the other to drive. A gasoline engine furnishes motor power. The novel part of the motor is that it has no carburettor. The speed is regulated in other ways. The aeroplane starts from a high incline. Underneath the car is a pair of runners, like those of a sled, on which it alights. It usually sails near the ground, although it is safer higher up, where the air currents are not so turbulent. One of the brothers says that near the ground the air is churned like the rapids at Niagara. Every little obstacle on the surface of the earth, such as a tree or a house, causes an air current shooting up to a great height. The problem of flying on an aeroplane is that of equilibrium. It is the same problem that is met in riding a bicycle, but infinitely harder. The danger is that of being capsized by some unsuspected air current. The only way to solve this problem and to overcome this danger is by practice. The Wrights have now been experimenting for nine years or more, and they believe they have discovered the secret of navigating a heavier than air machine, and that they are the only people who have other aeroplanes following their lead.

Two Born Geniuses.

The Wright brothers up to a year ago worked practically in secret. A Dayton, O., Daily News, many of their flights were made by himself. They also experimented at a gliding spot in the North Carolina coast known as Kitty Hawk, near the Kill Devil Hills.

They avoided publicity and refused to permit a photograph to be taken of their machines. The fact that they have now reversed this policy shows that they are far enough advanced in their work to go before the world.

The Wright brothers are about forty-two and are natives of Dayton, Ohio. Wilbur, the elder, who is the older brother, is smooth of face and has gray hair. The younger, who made the experiments at Fort Myer, wears a slight mustache and is just swept from the forehead by a little bit of hair on the top of his head. Both brothers are tall and slight, both are precise, scientific, patient and alert and in manner, and

After his recovery from the Fort Myer accident Orville Wright joined his brother in France and was accompanied by a sister, Katherine, who had nursed him back to health. France shows her delight on the whole family. Wilbur still remains the lion, as the actual ascension work is done by him, but the brunt of the social duties are taken off his shoulders by the brother and sister. Miss Katharine keenly enjoys it all, the banquets, honors and excitement repaying her for the long years when she was sympathized with as being the sister of those "two crazy brothers," as their neighbors lovingly and appreciatively called them. She presumes every one who ever did anything for humanity has been called crazy by the numerous race of rungs.

in these prophetic words were without honor in their own country, however, they have not lacked for adulation abroad. Through it all they have retained the same simple, self contained Yankee character. A correspondent for a New York paper has described the honors showered on Wilbur Wright by the kings and his own indifference thereto in this imaginative way:

"The Wrights are a furore abroad. 'Now, how are the Wright brothers affected by all this adulation, by this adoration for a sublime success enough to make an ordinary mortal's head swim?'"

"Can you not come to us and perform your miracle in Berlin?" write

"We cannot," answers Wilbur Wright—note the Slangue— "we do not like our climate!"

"We invite you to Italy," writes the king of Italy. "My people will give you an earnest welcome."

"We are too busy just now to make visits," declares Wilbur frankly.

Not to speak of King Mary, but in the interests of truth, it must be said that the Wrights have promised the king to visit him, but Wilbur Wright did go to Rome in response to the invitation of King King Emmanuel and that he was at least decently satisfied when visited by King Edward of England and King Alfonso of Spain. He should be happy to visit them. It was he, one monarch pleasing others, the king of the air greeting his brother rulers of the earth.

It is now assured that the grand Wilbur, as the French call the elder brother, grew quite chummy with the king of Spain. Poor Alfonso wanted to fly, but the brother and prime minister would not let him. So he had content himself with looking on fully and sitting in the machine to chat with the master after the wonder night was over. Poor kings! There are some things that even they are denied.

A Visit From Edward.
As for Edward VII., he went all the way from Biarritz to Pau to see the American genius and his invention, and the great Wilbur was gracious enough to make two flights.

The king followed them, as he himself expressed it, with bated breath. "You must come to England," he said cordially. "I hope you will come soon. It is all very beautiful. I am astonished and delighted."

The reception to Mr. Wright by the king of Italy took place at Rome by special invitation and is thus described:

The king, who spoke in English, seemed to be very much interested and asked many pointed questions concerning the Wright aeroplane and its flights. Mr. Wright explained to the king that his machine could leave the ground without the aid of a starting derrick, which was a convenience, not a necessity. The king was astonished at hearing Mr. Wright's record flight of 151 kilometers, and promised to be present at his experiments in Rome.

The same correspondent who spun the fairy tale about the manner in which Wilbur Wright turned down royalty throws a few more rhetorical flippants in describing the way that common people look at the new mar-

"After Wilbur Wright has performed one of his spectacular conquests of the air in face of a thunder of applause from hysterical Frenchmen—some of them so excited that they couldn't speak only splutter," as Wilbur Wright himself described them—what does this conquering Yankee hero do as he comes to the earth?

"To the sheer amazement of the front-seat spectators, he just stands there and, while chewing a whisp of straw and twirling mechanically a piece of stick, begins whistling. This is the simple pure Yankee at the court of King Arthur.

The mercantile French people do not know just how to take William Wright. This poor, calling landless found French from Paris, O., is a complete puzzle to them, a queer product from a queer somewhere in the backwoods of the virgin forests of the new world of most Frenchmen, even those who come from New York and Chicago. William of the United States in the eyes of the Frenchman is reported in a London paper as:

"They are surprised when he is dropped down from the clouds and one of his singularities is that he is not so much a philosopher and moralist as the makers would be if he were a chure, while the French themselves are creatures of man's nature in the world. They call it a new religion with its mysticism and excitement over his complete newness."

William of Barham, the French minister of public works, who had been invited by Wright to take a two day trip with him, admitted he was a two day party that he jumped on a horse's shoulders, wrapped in his new hat and coat and gave him a very good kiss though more with a view to a new picture for yourself the "Yank

The best critics of the continent, as well as of Britain, who have witnessed Wright's performances have agreed that he has made the most successful machine that ever dared the skies. Joseph Brandreth, a recognized authority on craft of the air, writes to the London Daily Mail:

"The man who walked out of the rough wooden shed to meet me wore a cloth cap and was in his shirt sleeves. I noticed that his shirt was of a curious deep green color, such as I do not remember ever to have seen before."

"From the first few moments of my conversation with him I judged Wilbur Wright to be a fanatic—a fanatic of flight—and I had no longer any doubt that he had accomplished all he claimed to have done. He seemed born to fly."

The two best stories that have come out of France relative to the Wrights have to do respectively with a bunch of photographers and a sculptor.

The first tells how the knights of the camera succeeded in getting round the obstinate inventor's objections to their malicious snapshots. The permission to take photographs having been put off by him from day to day, they resorted to stratagem. One of them crept along through the grass and behind the bushes, and when he was near enough he suddenly rushed out to the open, took a snapshot close at hand, turned on his heels and ran. Mr. Wright, who had been taken by surprise, ran after him, followed by his assistants. All the other photographers then surrounded the aeroplane and took dozens of snapshots in an instant. Mr. Wright came back in haste, but before he could reach them they were away with their cameras. They only lagged who remained on the spot was a cinematographer, who had had a sudden inspiration to take this exciting scene. His apparatus was too heavy for him to carry away with, so that Mr. Wright had to leave him.

casual, engaged, funny. The camera followed and the cinematographer finally took out the film and, tearing it up, handed the pieces to Mr. Wright, who then seemed appressed. The cinematographer carried away his camera, and when he reached the grand stand his friends came to sympathize with him. "It is not worth while," he said to them. "I tore up a blank film and kept the good one." A instant later he got into a motor car and was off. Cinematograph views of Mr. Wright giving chase to the photographers may, therefore, amuse the crowds on the boulevards. The conclusion of it all is that Mr. Wright has surrendered to the cameras, and photographers may now take as many

The second tale recounts not an effort to catch the brothers in moving pictures, but to immortalize them in marble.

The Académie of France has designated a group of statuary showing the brothers studying the flight of a eagle. This was to have been presented in the Salon des Champs, but was held off for a year or two, and is now considered with the designing.

It must be remembered that Wilbur Wright is almost as bold as Bill and that he must be said much of the credit of the first flight. The sculptors who modeled the statuary had seen Wilbur and asked if he granted the privilege for the statue, and he said a group of sculptors was paid as he had a notion.

Admiral Onizuka and his sister arrived at Pearl the day after took off at 11 and landed within hours at Fanning, a small island of isolated hair on the States.

William and Dorothy Wright are Americans. The future will show the way across the greatest inventory history. They have reached the goal that men have sought for centuries that through them are received honors from all the world-honors great as those bestowed upon kin and compatriots. It is not time for America itself were doing these own children, a little longer?

COMMON COUNCIL

Passed the $64,600 Loan Order
Over the Mayor's Veto

The common council last night concurred with the board of aldermen in voting the $64,600 loan order over the mayor's veto. The council voted in concurrence a loan of $64,600 for sewerage.

The report of the park commission that the cost of land for park purposes was rather prohibitive, was filed and a special committee will consider the matter further.

It will be remembered that Ald. Turner, chairman of the committee on accounts, scratched the street department buses for rainy days, that they did not work, but remained at the city stables awaiting orders. The buses put their case in the hands of a lawyer and last night when it was met with the council, it voted to pay the buses, thus ignoring the scratch of the committee on accounts.

There were twenty-one members present when the meeting was called to order at 8:30.

A joint order to borrow $50,000 for the construction of sewers was read. This order came from the board of aldermen with the board's approval and the council voted concurrent action. The mayor's veto of the order to borrow $64,600 for paying portions of Merrimack, Bridge and Middlesex streets was read. The aldermen had turned the veto down and the common council did likewise.

Three ordinances recommended by Mayor Brown were referred to the committee on ordinances and legislation. The ordinances were: To revise rates in the city wardens' department; to create the position of deputy sealers of weights and measures; to create a free employment bureau.

A communication signed by Samuel Mofford of Carter & Sherburne, and work, but remained at the city stables awaiting orders. The buses put their case in the hands of a lawyer and last night when it was met with the council, it voted to pay the buses, thus ignoring the scratch of the committee on accounts.

Councilman Welch moved that the communication be placed on the table, and Councilman Jodoin seconded. Councilman Welch said it would be too bad, an outrage, in fact, to charge the newsboys 25 cents for the privilege of selling papers.

Councilman Welch's motion was put and declared lost, and it was voted to refer the communication to the committee on ordinances and legislation.

Councilman Brady's order for a sanitary on the North common was voted unanimously.

Councilman Gookin's order for an appropriation of $700 for band concerts was adopted.

The park commission submitted a report with reference to the park project adjacent to Little Canada. This report was to the effect that the Locks and Canals would charge $65,121 for the land most desired, and on top of this would come the expenditure of $22,000 to convert the land into a playground. The report also indicated that the land might be leased for park purposes at a rental of only $5 a year, and the suggestion was made that the cheaper method of acquiring the land be adopted.

Councilman Achin moved that the report of the park commission be referred to a committee comprising two members of the common council, two members of the board of aldermen and the mayor, and that this committee confer with the park commission in the matter. This motion became a vote.

Councilman Welch introduced a communication concerning the bosses' pay.

Councilman Welch moved that action be taken immediately.

Councilman White moved that the bills be laid on the table, but President Qua ruled that under section 10, chapter 415, acts of 1896, it was up to the common council to act on the bills, one way or the other.

This section says that all bills reported back by the committee on accounts shall not be paid unless by vote of the city council.

Councilman Welch desired action one way or the other, but he said the committee on accounts was anxious to be guided by the sentiment of the city council in the matter of approving or amending future pay rolls giving bosses pay when they don't work.

Councilman Achin moved that it is the opinion of the council that these bills be paid, but that similar bills for the future be not paid. The motion was defeated. It was finally voted that the bills be paid.

At a meeting of the school committee held last night the following business was transacted:

C. A. Whitte, superintendent of the park department, had a communication before the committee asking that the basement of the Ellet school be turned over to the use of athletes for showing baths. Supt. A. K. Whitcomb and E. T. Goward of the school committee were given full power to act.

The committee voted to transfer Mary C. Quinn from the Morrill school to the Butler school.

It was voted that the best interests of the schools of Lowell are concerned by holding the Middlesex County Teachers' meeting on Friday instead of Saturday.

Certificates of the first grade were on May 3.

granted to Dennis A. Murphy and Raymond Sherburne.

The Florence Crittenton society offered the services of Miss French to assist the physicians recently appointed to the school committee. The offer was accepted.

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the finance committee of the Lowell Automobile club was held last night at the board of trade rooms in the Central block, and Secretary John A. McKenna announced that all but $333 of the $10,000 for a guarantee fund had been collected. Last night was to have been the time when the committee was to decide whether or not the race would be held here during Labor day week, but owing to the fact that there remains but a comparatively small sum to be collected it was decided to keep the list open till Friday night, when the regular meeting of the committee will be held. By that time it is expected that the remainder of the money will have been contributed.

That the members of the committee hustled during the few days that intervened between the regular and special meeting is very evident from the amount of money collected.

Chairman Harry R. Rice occupied the chair. The meeting was of short duration, the solicitors simply reporting what they had secured after which Secretary McKenna gave out the total sum contributed and the amount necessary to make the guarantee fund of $10,000.

President J. O. Heinze, prior to his leaving for New York on Monday to confer with the officers of the A. A. A. left word to immediately notify him of the amount contributed, and at the conclusion of the meeting Fred W. Cornum, one of the members of the finance committee, wired the fact that all but $333 had been collected.

Since last Saturday the committee has got together 1187. The invoice of subscriptions last night showed that $1113 had been subscribed since Monday afternoon. It was stated that, aside from the amount collected here for the San Francisco sufferers, a sum as much as $10,000 has never before been subscribed here. It came hard, a lot of it, and the members of the finance committee are entitled to a lot of credit for the many hours of real hard work put in.

On Friday night at 7:15 o'clock the finance committee will hold a meeting. Last night they decided to hold one meeting more before a report was made to the club as a whole. In the meantime they hope to get the $333 needed. Every cent of the $10,000 needed is wanted by Friday. After the meeting of the finance committee the Lowell Automobile club will hold a session. This meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock. The contributions read last night were as follows:

RED HOT FINISH

13 Inning Game at Fall River

FALL RIVER, April 28.—After Lowell had apparently won yesterday's game by scoring two runs in the 12th inning, two Fall River players crossed the bag in their half of that inning, and in the 13th still another Fall River player came home with the tally that decided the game, 4 to 2.

Ed's triple in the twelfth gave Lowell its two runs. The runs were by Fall River, which tied the score, did not come until after two men were out. Three successive singles in the 13th resulted in Fall River's winning run. Howard proved a sensational style.

bounced hit with the St. Louis fans.

The Cleveland fans are keeping tabs on the fine box work of Charley Chech.

Prout, a former Red Sox pitcher, has made a hit with the New Orleans club.

Pittsburg would like to dispose of Gus Sonel, well known to the New England fans.

Ralph Glaze won both of his games last week for Indianapolis by scores of 4 to 2 and 4 to 1.

The New York fans have styled Clyde Engle of the Highlanders the Hans Wagner of the American league.

Eddie Plank prevented the Boston players from working the hit and run game by wasting the two first balls.

Long John Anderson should make a good man for Providence, and John will enjoy being near his home in Worcester.

Jimmie Collins was escorted from the ball field at Milwaukee, last week as the result of a nudge with Empire Hayes.

George Bovine is not hitting to suit Manager Chance, and Arthur Hoffman will be sent to center field for the Chicago club.

It looks rather encouraging to find three eastern teams in the first division in the American league race.

The Athletics are playing consistent ball and will improve as the season lengthens, now that Chief Bender is back in form.

James Miller, who has succeeded Abbatichio at second for Pittsburg, is a tall, lanky young fellow of considerable minor league experience.

The Chicago White Sox are still doing business without the services of big Ed Walsh, as Comiskey refuses to allow the pitcher to dictate the terms of his contract.

The big disappointments up to date have been the New York Giants, the Senators, the Cleveland and Detroit teams; but it's rather early to worry about those old teams.

Manager Fred Lake played on the same teams with the late Dr. Powers in the early '90s around northern Massachusetts. Mr. Lake said that Powers was one of the finest men ever connected with the game.

The Boston Red Sox have played ten games up to date, and seven times they have started against left-handers. The boys won from Plank, Gray and Newton and will be in shape to take the measure of the south-wing boys from now on.

Word was received yesterday that Jack Johnson has decided to pay no further attention to Jeffries and will proceed to fight Jack O'Brien, Kaufman, Ketchel and even Sam Langford.

Johnson is quoted as saying that Jeffries is bluffing and will never enter the ring again; that if Jeffries really intended to make a match he would sign articles and post the necessary forfeits without further delay or would at least agree verbally upon the exact date for a mill.

Johnson has been scored so severely for dodging Sam Langford that he now says he intends to convince the sporting public that he is a real champion and that he will meet all his challenges in due time.

Johnson has lashed a six round bout with Philadelphia's Jack O'Brien, to be decided in Quaker City, Pa., and will sail a few days later for England and France.

While on the other side Johnson, according to his own statements, will be ready to make matches with the winner of a fight between Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette or with Ian Hogue, the new English heavyweight champion, provided the latter defeats Langford.

Johnson will take no notice of Sam McVey, Kid McCoy or Fitzsimmons, who are in Europe challenging the world, but he says that it is just possible he will meet Kaufman in a twenty round bout in Paris some time in July.

Johnson says also that he has no idea of running out of his twenty round fight with Ketchel at Colma on Oct. 12, as he is fully convinced that he cannot induce Jeffries to sign articles before that time.

Johnson has $5000 in cash up as a guarantee that he will appear at the ring with Ketchel and declares that he does not want to forfeit this amount, particularly when he is confident that he can stop Ketchel and thereby take down the large end of a $25,000 gate.

After he trims Ketchel and the big negro says he'll do the trick to a moral certainty—Johnson states that if Jeffries is still backward about signing articles he will take on the veteran Jim Corbett a fight to a finish or in a limited round affair.

Johnson, of course, assumes that he can beat all of these opponents and will have no trouble in retaining his present laurels. But pugilism, like baseball, is uncertain, and there's many a slip between the cup and the lip.

Johnson regards O'Brien as a very easy proposition, but Philadelphia Jack thinks that in six rounds he can make the big negro look like a selling plater.

O'Brien has no superior in point of speed for that short route, and if he can repeat the pace he set for six rounds in the recent bout with Ketchel he is believed that Johnson will have to take himself to escape being out-pointed.

If Johnson is on the level in his statement relative to Langford, Jeannette and Hogue, it looks as if he will have to fight Langford in some sort of bout either in London or Paris before he returns here for the Ketchel mill.

Kaufman has planned to go to France in July and will try to force Johnson to live up to his promise to make a match there. Should either Langford or Kaufman get a crack at Johnson on the other side of the Atlantic it is believed that the big negro would be extremely lucky to escape a defeat and that if his colors should be lowered the bout with Ketchel would lose much of its present interest.

Getting down to cases, sporting men believe that Ketchel, O'Brien, Johnson will not fight anybody until he stacks up against Ketchel, for he believes that the match with the Michigan Lion will draw more money than any other bout that can be arranged for him except the battle with Jeffries, which may never materialize.

Ketchel says he hopes Johnson will keep away from the ring until Oct. 12, rolls around. The Michigan Lion, however, intends to take on Sam Langford for ten rounds at Los Angeles in July.

Willis Britt has accepted the offer of a $10,000 guarantee, win, lose or draw, from Promoter McCarty, in behalf of Ketchel, and the latter has decided to leave for the coast about the middle of May.

Joe Goodman, Langford's manager, has also accepted terms, and says that he will cut short his coming trip to Europe in order to get back in time for a mill that he has been trying to clinch for nearly a year.

Ketchel said yesterday as he resumed light training near Woodlawn that he would surely defeat Langford under any fair conditions, and that a success of this kind would boom his chances for taking Johnson's measure.

The award did not please all the members, a great many figuring that Langford had earned the award. There were others who thought Sandy should have got it, while the remainder believed it was a fair decision.

FIRST SACKER DONOHUE OF THE WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, April 28.—Rumors are now in circulation on Ben Johnson's American league circuit that "Jiggs" Donohue, first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, is to be sold or traded to the Washington club. It has been said that "Jiggs" has not been entirely satisfied with his berth in Chicago, and Manager Cantillon wants him to build down first sack for the Washingtons. It is reported that President Comiskey of the White Sox wants Pitcher Burns for his first baseman, but that Cantillon will not consider the Nationals' star southpaw in on the deal and has asked Comiskey to fix a cash price on Donohue. Donohue was one of the chief individual factors in the capturing of the world's championship in the fall of 1906, his fielding being phenomenal and game saving, and his batting most timely. Donohue was born in Springfield, O. He played his first professional game in Marietta, O. in 1896, starting as a catcher. In 1903 he joined the Pittsburg Nationals. He finished the season with Minneapolis, then went to Milwaukee in 1904. At the close of 1903 he was purchased by the White Sox management and joined them in 1904. He throws and bats left handed. Donohue has led the first sackers in the American league in fielding for the last three years.

THIS IS THE RIGHT WAY TO CURE CATARRH

Yes, dear reader, catarrh can be cured, but not by pouring vile drugs into the stomach.

You've got to kill the catarrh germs; that's all there is to it, before you can cure catarrh.

Hyomel (pronounced High-o-me) is a germ killing vapor or air which when breathed either through the mouth or nose will kill catarrh germs and soothe and heal the inflamed and mutilated membrane.

Hyomel is such a powerful germ destroyer that it penetrates every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. And it kills the catarrh germs because it gets where they are.

Hyomel is pleasant to use. It is made from concentrated extract of pine and eucalyptus taken from trees in inland Australia, where catarrh was never known.

Breathe in this pleasant, healing yet germ killing air (you'll like to use Hyomel) through a small hard rubber inhaler that comes with each outfit and relief will come quickly.

Hyomel is guaranteed by Carter & Sherburne to cure catarrh or money back; it gives most wonderful relief to consumptives. A complete outfit which includes an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomel and simple instructions for use costs $1.00, and extra bottles if afterward needed cost 50 cents. Leading druggists everywhere sell Hyomel.

And catarrh germs thrive, flourish and multiply in the inner recesses of the nose and throat.

Carry your life through and persistent little health destroyers by swallowing pills or nostrum? It's a joke and those that would appreciate the joke would be the same little devilish germs if they only knew what you were trying to do.
